AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

Large Crowds Continue to Call on the President.

CHANGES IN THE DEPARTMENTS

Oregonians Who Are Seeking Office—A Circular Issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission—A Congressman Very Ill

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The rush of visitors to the White House continued to-day, but they were much less numerous than on the previous day. For the first time since he entered the White house the president was able to devote the entire forenoon to visitors having business with him. He received upstairs in his office and was with them from 10 o'clock until nearly 1. Among those who called during that time was Vice President Morton, with Senator Hiscock, General Ben Butler, Senators Quay, Paddock, Dolph, Stewart, Mitchell, Sherman, Stanford, Representative McKinney, Lew Wallace and Ex-Senators Saunders and Bruce.

General Lew Wallace and Mr. Clarkson of Iowa took lunch with President and Mrs. Harrison to-day, after which, on account of the large number of people who had assembled outside the White House, a reception was held upon the portico, the president merely bowing his acknowledgements as the crowd filed before him.

He then retired for a brief rest and subsequently gave way to an audience of a thousand or more persons, who obtained access to the red room. No hand shaking was indulged in. The entire reception lasted from 1:30 to 2:30.

At the latter hour Mrs. Cleveland held a card reception.

INDIANA AND COAST DELEGATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The Indiana delegation called in a body on the president this morning and urged that ex-Congressman Johnston, of Indiana, who was defeated for re-election last November, be made commissioner of pensions. The other candidates for this office are Corporal Tanner, of New York, General Browne, of Cincinnati, and Private Vaughan, of Iowa.

The Pacific coast delegation called on the president in the interest of General Swift, of California. They said they were as yet undecided what office they wanted for General Swift.

WANAMAKER PURCHASES AN ELEGANT RESIDENCE.

Postmaster General Wanamaker has purchased from the Frelinghuysen estate the elegant residence which has been until recently the home of Secretary Whitney. The price paid for the house and a part of the furniture is understood to have been $80,000.

THE OLD AND THE NEW

Incidents Connected With the Change of Official Heads of Departments.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Secretary Blaine received a number of diplomatic representatives of foreign governments this morning.

The navy department has postponed from March 15 to April 8 the time for receiving proposals for the construction of an armored coast defense vessel. This order was Secretary Tracy's first official act.

Secretary Windom assumed active charge of the treasury department to-day. He was busy with callers most of the day, and found difficulty in the transaction of the necessary routine business of the department. He informed an associated press reporter that Bonds would be continued for the present, at least, and added that he had not yet had time to give the subject proper consideration.

It is now regarded as practically settled that Charles E. Coon of New York will be appointed assistant secretary of the treasury to succeed Governor Thompson, and that George C. Tichnor, of Kentucky, now special agent of the treasury, will be appointed assistant secretary, to succeed Judge Maynard. It is expected that these names are included in the number of nominations to be sent in to the senate to-day.

MORE RESIGNATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Assistant Attorney General Howard has tendered his resignation. It is understood that he will be requested to continue in office until the adjournment of the court of claims in June.

Ex-Secretary and Mrs. Fairchild left this afternoon for New York.

Secretary Windom had a long interview with Fairchild last night in relation to the business of the treasury department.

W. T. N. Robinson of Pennsylvania, law clerk to Attorney General Garland, to-day tendered his resignation.

Ex-Secretary Endicott left Washington for Boston to-day.

In the supreme court to-day ex-Attorney General Garland introduced his successor, William H. H. Miller, and the latter's commission was placed on record.

Ex-Secretary Whitney left Washington for New York this morning. All of the chiefs of the bureaus of the navy department and many personal friends were at the station to say farewell.

OREGONIANS WHO WANT OFFICE

A Number of Patriotic Citizens Already on the Ground.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—W. P. Mays and T. C. [illegible] are in the city. They are both candidates for the office of United States attorney for Oregon.

L. T. Barin of Portland, Or., is in the city. He is seeking the office of collector of customs at Portland.

The republicans of Oregon have indorsed Corporal Tanner of Brooklyn, N. Y., for commissioner of pensions, and Senators Mitchell and Dolph and Representative Hermann had an audience with the president to-day and urged his appointment to this office.

THE INTERSTATE COMMISSION

A Circular Issued in Explanation of the Recent Amendments.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The Interstate commerce commission to-day issued a letter [illegible] circular calling the attention of common carriers to the provisions of the recent amendments to the interstate commerce act and urging that especial care be taken to avoid violation thereof. Among the declarations of the amended portions is one to the effect that no advances shall be made in joint rates, fares or charges except after ten days' notice to the commission, and no reductions shall be made except after three days' notice. The time in each case is to be computed from the day the notice of change reaches the office of the commission in Washington.

Transportation of passengers or freight over continuous lines or routes operated by more than one carrier upon through tickets or through billing necessarily implies the existence of joint tariffs. In future all advances and reductions in joint tariffs will be given the same publicity as is required in the case of individual carriers.

Another amendment makes it now a [illegible] offense for any carrier to participate [illegible] in the [illegible] [illegible] the established rates for the transportation of [illegible] joint traffic whatever.

The commission is required to execute and enforce the provisions of the act, and it is made the duty of any district attorney of the United States, upon request of the commission, to institute and prosecute all necessary proceedings for that purpose.

These rules apply equally to joint and individual tariffs.

Regarding export traffic, the commission understands that the through rate is determined by the addition of the ocean rate prevailing from the point of export. Therefore the [illegible] rate [illegible] point of export is subject to the [illegible] regulations.

THE RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE

The New Law Will Probably Not Go Into Effect Until the Close of the Fiscal Year.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Attorney General Miller has hardly [illegible] that it is [illegible] that President Harrison recognizes the necessity of extending the time when the civil service laws shall cover the railway mail service. He said that the service was undoubtedly in great disorder, and until it was placed upon a new and efficient basis those in charge of it should not be hampered with a law which would keep in service incompetent men and keep out those who would be efficient, but who could not pass the civil service examination.

It is probable that instead of the law going into effect on the 15th inst., as dictated by President Cleveland's proclamation, it will not take effect until the end of the present fiscal year, June 30.

A new chief of the railway mail service will likely be selected and the organization of the service be begun at once, so that the crippled condition of mail transportation may be remedied at the earliest day possible.

Postmaster General Wanamaker has also recognized the necessity of extending the time for the civil service law to cover the railway mail service, and the question is to be discussed at the next regular cabinet meeting.

SOCIAL AMENITIES.

The Informality of President and Mrs. Harrison Commented Upon.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—People here are much impressed with the informality of President and Mrs. Harrison at their receptions.

While lunch was being served to an Indiana delegation last evening, the president himself attended to the tea and coffee, and gave the ladies special personal attention. As the guests were departing he assisted the ladies with their robes and gave them those little pleasant attentions which have characterized the entertainments of General and Mrs. Harrison at their hospitable home in Indianapolis. It has been customary for the presidents to leave everything except conversation, entirely with the servants, and it amazes the people of Washington to have a president who, in his personal capacity, takes the part of a private citizen.

It begins to look as though President and Mrs. Harrison would have more social duties than they can attend to. Both have given up every hour of their daylight to receiving and caring for their friends since the inauguration. The carpet on the great east parlor of the White house has been half worn out since the incoming of the new occupants of the mansion.

Mrs. Harrison is quite as informal as her husband. When she receives her friends in the parlors on the upper floor of the executive mansion there is no waiting, and no preliminary introductions.

The president has refused to devote himself to his usual duties so long as there are people waiting to pay their respects. On Monday he will begin his official work in earnest.

A DINNER IN HONOR OF SECRETARY TRACY.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Colonel Elliott F. Shepard, of the New York Mail and Express, gave a dinner this evening at the Arlington hotel to Hon. Benjamin F. Tracy, secretary of the navy. Among the guests were a number of prominent men.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

Superintendents of Education.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—President Harrison received the convention of superintendents of education to-day. Superintendent Campbell introducing the members. The secretary of the interior, General Noble, appeared and briefly addressed the department, and this evening Senator Blair, chairman of the senate committee on education, delivered an address. A resolution was adopted by the convention by a rising vote that the thanks of the department are due to the officers of the department, and especially to President Fred M. Campbell, of California, for the programme of this meeting, which has proved one of the most interesting and profitable in the history of the department.

A Petition Refused.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Maynard has refused the petition of Kwong Fai, at Portland, Or., for the remission of the $10.40 additional duty imposed by the collector of customs at San Francisco on certain merchandise imported by him from Hong Kong via San Francisco, because he failed to take the necessary steps for obtaining a review of the collector's action within the proper time, and because the collector insists that the duty was properly levied.

A Compromise Proposed.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Senator Mitchell is advised by the solicitor of the treasury that if G. [illegible] Stanley, who is being prosecuted by the United States in Oregon on a claim of $18,114, for cutting timber on public lands, will submit an offer to the treasury department of 25 cents per thousand for 710,400 feet of timber alleged to have been cut, it will be promptly accepted and the matter disposed of.

Congressman Townsend Dying.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Congressman Townsend, of Illinois, who has been seriously ill several days with pneumonia, is reported to-night to be dying.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—At midnight Representative Townsend's condition was slightly better than early in the evening, but there is still very little hope of his recovery.

A DISASTROUS BLAZE

Several Large Business Blocks Destroyed in Louisville, Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, March 8.—The most disastrous fire in the loss of property that has occurred here in seven years broke out at noon to-day in the basement of Kleinman & Simonon's clothing house on West Market street. In fifteen minutes the blaze had spread through the large store and through the roof. Soon after the roof fell and a little later two large sections of side walls. With one of these the rear of H. Strauss's dry goods house went down.

A strong west wind was blowing and the roof of Strauss's store fell in, throwing a mass of flames upon a large structure in the center of the block. It seemed inevitable that the block would all burn. After a hard fight, however, the firemen gained control and confined the flames to the Strauss place. One fireman was painfully burned and another slightly hurt.

Kleinman & Simonon's loss on stock is $286,000, and on buildings $45,000. Newcomb building, $[illegible],000; Strauss, stock, $40,000; the Churchill building, $60,000. The insurance amounted to about $[illegible].

BOYS WHO PLAYED CRAZY.

Confession of Twenty-four Inmates of a Soldiers' Orphans' Home.

PITTSBURG, March 8.—A dispatch from Butler, Pennsylvania, says: The inspector of the Soldiers' Orphans' home at McAlister ville, Pennsylvania, has completed his report regarding the "crazy boys" at that institution.

The report is very singular and interesting. The boys were shamming. They have all confessed to the confusion of the wise doctors who diagnosed the cases.

There were twenty-four boys who played crazy. Gus Spittler was their leader and originated the plan. The boys in their confessions say that the motives inspiring them were to have their meals [illegible] to them. Their ages range from 10 to 15 years.

COUNTERFEITERS ARRESTED

A Sensation Caused by the Capture of the Leaders of a Desperate Gang.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 8.—The United States marshal arrested, in Conway county, yesterday, Martin Sherp and William Garner, the leaders of the most extensive gang of counterfeiters in the southwest. Officers have been on the track of these men for months.

An immense sum of bogus money, representing $[illegible]10 and $20 imitation gold pieces, was also secured. Over a dozen persons are implicated, comprising some well-known people of Perry and Saline counties. Sherp and Garner have been bound over. The arrest causes a great sensation.

THE BOYCOTT LIFTED

End of the Fight of the Eastern Trunk Lines Against the Chicago & Alton.

CHICAGO, March 8.—The boycott of the Eastern trunk lines against the Chicago & Alton road on the passenger traffic on account of the quarrel over the payment of commissions by the latter was lifted to-day.

The fight of the trunk lines against the Alton has been long and bitter, and the surrender is looked upon as an inducement to the Alton to withdraw the agents it had stationed in the East. A rebate is the action of the trunk lines yesterday.

ALL ON ACCOUNT OF A SCANDAL

A Bank President Resigns Because of a Derogatory Article in a Newspaper.

[illegible], Cal., March 8.—Colonel W. A. Ray, president of the [illegible] Valley bank, has resigned his position in that institution on account of a scandalous article published in a Los Angeles paper, and which public sentiment attached to him. H. W. Mager, formerly president of the bank, has temporarily taken the place of the retiring officer.

The Gubernatorial Contest.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 8.—The arguments in the gubernatorial case began this morning in the supreme court. The position taken by the counsel for Governor Wilson is that the declaration of the result is absolutely necessary to give Goff the title, and that without such a declaration no one has the right to claim the governorship, the whole matter is in the hands of the legislature.

The republican side insisted that the people had elected Goff, and that the certificates sent up showed it, and that if the legislature did not do its duty it was the court's [illegible] to see that justice was done.

Discovery of the Supposed Murderer.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The police think they have cleared up the mystery surrounding the brutal murder of drug clerk Guenther Wechsung yesterday morning. William Kreitsch, the drug clerk's assistant, has been identified as the purchaser of the hatchet with which the murder was committed. Kreitsch is 19 years of age. He maintains his innocence, but makes many conflicting statements.

A Trust That is no Monopoly.

The trust reposed by the dyspeptic and bilious in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is not a monopoly. It is shared not only by them, but by residents of malarious localities, quondam rheumatic sufferers whom it has relieved, and the nervous debilitated and [illegible] whom it has built up. If troubled with any of these kindnesses you should use it. Give this medicine the systematic trial it merits.

A Protest Against the Sailing of the Andes.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Haustedt, consul general of the provisional government of Hayti, was to-day preparing a protest to be laid before Collector Magone to-morrow, requesting the customs authorities to prevent the departure of the steamer Andes for Hayti to-morrow. He alleges that the steamer carries guns and powder and other ammunition for Legitime.

A Heavy Assignment.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 8.—Thomas C. Cooper, wholesale dealer in flour and provisions, assigned to-day. Liabilities $100,000; preferences $65,000.

Complexion Powder is an absolute necessity of the refined toilet in this climate. Pozzoni's combines every element of beauty and purity.

THE SAMOAN SENSATION

Little Credence Given to the Story in the East.

SECRETARY BLAINE A DOUBTER

Naval Officers in High Command Also Discredit the Entire Statement—Interviews With a Number of Admirals.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Great prominence is given by the papers to the rumor that an American man of war was sunk in Samoan waters in a fight with the German corvette Olga. While no credence is given to the report, the publication has occasioned a sensation. The fact that the name of the vessel alleged to have been sunk is omitted adds to the disbelief in the report, but it is assumed that the vessel is the Nipsic, Captain Mullan commanding. Captain Schenck, quartermaster of the United States marine corps, verifies the statement that the Olga was supplied with torpedoes, which is not the case with the American war vessels dispatched to Samoa.

The steamship Alameda, of the Oceanic line, which left here for Australia last month, touched at Tutuila, a southern island of the Samoan group, on February 25 and arrived at Auckland March 3. Had any engagement occurred at Apia she would probably have learned the fact at Tutuila and carried the news to Auckland, where the fact would have been cabled. It is conceded that the information might not have reached Tutuila, as Apia is seventy miles distant, in time for the Alameda to carry the news to Auckland. The steamship Zealandia is due at this port March 16 with news from Samoa down to March 2.

DISCREDITED IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, March 8.—No credence is given to the Schlesinger Zeitung's story, cabled from Berlin to the Herald, about a fight between American and German men-of-war. Even the Herald characterized it as a sensational story.

THEY DON'T BELIEVE IT.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The story of an engagement between the German man-of-war Olga and an American man-of-war in the harbor of Apia is generally discredited at the navy department. No information upon the subject has been received at the department of state. It was said there that news of any such importance would surely reach the United States at least as soon as Germany.

The Nipsic, which is supposed to be the American vessel referred to in the German publication, is rated as a wooden vessel of the third class, with six guns. The Vandalia and Trenton, which have doubtless reached Samoa by this time, are also wooden vessels, carrying eight and ten guns respectively as their main batteries. Most of these guns are smooth bore, but naval officers say that at short range and against unarmed vessels, such as the German boats now in Samoan waters, these cannon are just as efficient as rifled ordnance. Unless the German gun boats have also been reinforced, the American fleet now at Apia is regarded as superior, as the vessels are fresh from the repairers and the crews are strong in numbers.

BLAINE THINKS THE REPORT UNWORTHY OF CREDENCE.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Secretary Blaine, this evening, in answer to an inquiry, said that the report of a conflict between German and United States war vessels was, in his opinion, unworthy of credence. He regarded it as a mere stock-jobbing rumor, having no foundation whatever.

Commodore Walker of the navy department holds similar views.

OPINION IN NAVAL CIRCLES.

Nobody Credulous Enough to Believe the Sensational Story.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The New York Herald of this morning prints three columns of comments relative to the reported blowing up of the United States ship Nipsic at Samoa by the German cruiser Olga. This report, printed in the Herald of March 8 as a dispatch from Breslau, where information of such an encounter was first printed, is the basis of much comment, according to the Herald, in Washington, where its correspondent interviewed the naval officers with the result printed in the Herald this morning, and from which the following epitomization is made:

Commodore Sicard had no knowledge of the Nipsic having been sunk by the German torpedo, save such as furnished by the Herald's Breslau dispatch. Referring to the torpedo armament of the German gunboats, Commodore Sicard said: "The working range of these torpedoes, to be fired with accuracy, is about 400 yards. The German navy use the Schwartz Kopff torpedo, which is made in Germany and nowhere else. It contains about ninety-three pounds of gun cotton, equal in force to 300 pounds of gun powder. They are launched from the side of the ship, and after being properly aimed are shot into the water. They travel at the rate of twenty-five knots per hour, and if the Nipsic was within a short distance of the Olga, it would have been impossible for her to have gotten out of the way."

Commodore Sicard said the Nipsic might have been in such a position that it was impossible for her to get out of torpedo range, provided that the reported engagement actually took place. "If such was the case it would fare very badly with her."

Concluding, the commodore added: "The Trenton and the Vandalia must be there by this time, and if anything should have happened to the Nipsic you may rest assured they will be heard from. Admiral Kimberly is a courageous officer. He will stand no nonsense, and if there is any trouble will give an excellent account of himself."

ANOTHER DOUBTER.

Commodore Harmony, assistant secretary of the navy department, was disposed to doubt the correctness of the reported sinking of the Nipsic. He said: "Of course I do not think there is any truth in the report, but upon the statement of a possible combat I make my comments. If the Olga did bombard the town and injure American property and American citizens, the commander of the Nipsic would protest first, and then, failing to secure protection to our interests, would open fire. A naval officer has all the discretion any one has. He can make war without orders if in his judgment circumstances demand it."

ADMIRAL PORTER.

To the Herald correspondent Admiral Porter said: "As I understood it, the officers who were sent down there were under instructions to be very careful and conservative, and therefore it is not likely they were provoked into such a rupture. I do not think the report true, for many reasons. I have noticed several sensational items in German papers of late of a disparaging nature as to the United States. Again, if a shell was exploded between decks of the Olga it is not likely she was in a condition to use torpedoes on the Nipsic. An officer knowing his business would have fired at the Olga's water-line, lying as they were close together, and that would settle her."

IT MIGHT BE TRUE.

Regarding the authenticity of the news of the encounter, the Herald refers to the fact that a German ship with the news might have reached Auckland within four or five days of the occurrence, and cabled the fact to Germany, while the American dispatch officer stationed there by the navy department would be obliged to wait the arrival of the regular steamers.

Three Men Supposed to Have Been Burned Alive.

KANSAS CITY, March 8.—Henry Steele, hostler, in the employ of the Metropolitan Cable Company, whose stables were burned Wednesday night, gave it as his opinion that three men perished in the fire. They went ahead of him for the purpose of saving some of the mules, and he is positive that not one of them got out. He himself was rescued in a fainting condition. It will be some time before the debris can be cleared to ascertain whether or not there were any lives lost.

Affecting the Beef Combine.

DENVER, March 8.—Senators Eddie and Bailey, and Representatives Elbert, Davidson and Wootan, the joint committee appointed by the legislature to attend the convention of delegates from various states called to meet at St. Louis next Tuesday for the purpose of securing joint action of legislation affecting the "beef combine," or trust, leave here to-morrow morning in a special car. They will return via Chicago, where they will privately investigate matters pertaining to the beef combination.

Following the Trail of Snell's Murderer.

CHICAGO, March 8.—It is stated that a clue has been discovered regarding Tascott, the supposed murderer of Millionaire Snell, sufficiently promising to induce a journey and personal investigation by Stone, the dead man's son-in-law. It is stated that he, in company with a detective, is now following the trail, which Chief of Police Hubbard says is very promising, but no definite information as to the whereabouts of the party can be obtained.

For Construction on the Rio Grande.

DENVER, March 8.—The Denver, Rio Grande & Western have placed with the North Chicago Rolling Mills an order for the first lot of heavy steel rails in the furtherance of their plans of widening their gauge and furnishing a neutral connection from Colorado to Salt Lake City and Ogden, free on equal terms to all lines west of the Rocky mountains and of uniform gauge with them.

Fatal Accident in a Coeur d'Alene Mine—The Crew of the Wrecked Port Gordon at Olympia —News From Salem

TACOMA, March 8.—President Adams of the Union Pacific, and Mr Harris, representing the Northern Pacific, are holding a conference to-day, the subject being the purchase of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company.

The foregoing press dispatch from New York was read to President Oakes this morning, in the private office of Second Vice President Prescott in the headquarters building in Tacoma, and he was asked if the news was correct. He replied that it was, and said that the purchase of the Oregon Railway & Navigation lines of railroads and boats was a part of the arbitration plan, under the terms of which the Union Pacific will secure an entrance to Tacoma over the Northern Pacific company's line.

This arbitration contract is an agreement between the Northern Pacific and Union Pacific companies to place control of all competitive lines in Eastern Washington and Oregon in the hands of five managers, to be appointed by the parties to the agreement. A condition connected with the contract is the control of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, and this is the subject under discussion in New York to-day. Four out of six of the Oregon Railway & Navigation executive committee represented the Northern Pacific, and the other two the Union Pacific, and as all are in favor of the plan the sale is bound to be consummated.

Absorption by the Northern Pacific of the Wisconsin Central.

HELENA, Mont. March 8.—The consolidation of the Northern Pacific and the Wisconsin Central railroads is an assured fact. The date of March 15 is set for the absorption of the Central. No changes will be made in the train forces of either line. Additional trains may be put on should business require. Pullman sleepers will run through from Chicago to the Pacific coast. The Pullman company will put on a second class sleeper service, round trip for sleeper to be $15. The new passenger station in Chicago will not be completed in season to begin Northern Pacific through business, but the heavy immigrant traffic that has already begun can be handled directly from Chicago without stopping for changes and layovers at the twin cities.

FROM SPOKANE FALLS.

Fatal Casualty in a Mine From Premature Blasts.

SPOKANE FALLS, March 8.—John Waters was killed and John Murphy badly injured by premature blasts yesterday in the Morning mine, owned by Warren Hussey, of this city, in the Coeur d'Alene district. They had put in six blasts heavily charged, and Murphy gave the warning and started out, Waters lingering behind. The two upper blasts went off and then the other four simultaneously. Murphy was knocked down and rendered insensible. Upon recovering he sought Waters and found him shockingly mutilated. He lived about an hour.

Recently a man named Frost jumped the old Catholic mission near Coeur d'Alene City, established by Father Joset in 1842 and to which the title was acquired under an act of congress approved August 14, 1848. The contest case came on for a hearing before the local land office at Coeur d'Alene City last Saturday. Frost failed to appear, and the defendants secured judgment by default.

The Spokane Mill Company and the Spokane Manufacturing and Lumber Company were consolidated to-day. The capital stock was increased from $250,000 to $350,000. The directors are C J Brickel, A M Cannon, S Oppenheimer, James Shinn, Charles M Patterson, H M Strathern and G. P. Darl. The mills will be operated day and night to supply the increasing demand for lumber and mill products.

The Ophir Gold Mining Company has been organized with a capital stock of $500,000. The directors are W. H. Bailey, of Spokane, S T Silverman, of Helena, and Warren Hussey, D T Ham and G K Stocker, of Spokane. The company will operate in Okanogan county.

THE SHIPWRECKED CREW

Arrival of the Survivors at Olympia—The Men Severely Bruised

OLYMPIA, W T March 8.—Captain Gibbs of the British ship Port Gordon, which was wrecked below Cape Flattery, arrived here to-day, with the following members of his crew: William Lamment, William Rogers, M Orandezl, Charles Williams, Charles Birch and Arthur Hall. All the men are badly bruised, and Williams and the captain are suffering from contused limbs. Williams is unable to walk and suffers considerably. Captain Gibbs was the last to leave the ship, and only did so when it was breaking up under his feet. All of the party have lost their clothing, but our citizens are helping them as far as they can. The captain and crew will leave for Tacoma to-morrow.

FROM SALEM.

More Prisoners for the Penitentiary—State Board of Agriculture.

SALEM, March 8.—Sheriff Ross and deputies of Clatsop county, to-day brought up five prisoners for the penitentiary, as follows: N F Livington, attempted rape, ten years; William Johnson, larceny in a store, two years; Charles Dahl, V B Melin and Ned Hervin, each robbery, each three years.

The State Board of Agriculture was in session here to-night until late, revising the premium list. All the members were present except Cartwright, Buck and Keeny.

Jasper Ellis, commissary at the penitentiary, was discharged to-day by Superintendent Downing.

Alonzo Brown, mail carrier from Dallas, had a runaway here to-day. His team was scared by a switch engine, and upset the hack, broke an axle and hurt Brown painfully but not seriously.

FROM SEATTLE.

End of the Strike—Another Warning Against a Dangerous Practice.

SEATTLE, March 8.—The steamboat strike on the O. R. & N boats on Puget sound is over, and all the men have returned to work at the old wages. The steamer Hayward will run on the Olympia route until Monday, in place of the Potter, while the Potter will run in the Hayward's place between here and Tacoma. On Monday the Potter will resume her old place. During the strike considerable freight accumulated on the O R & N Company's wharf. This has about all been cleared away, and matters are running smoothly as ever.

ANOTHER WARNING AGAINST A DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

Randolph Henry died this afternoon at Grace hospital from the effects of injuries received last Sunday morning while attempting to board the Portland train. Henry tried to board the last car while it was in motion, but lost his balance, and his foot was very badly smashed in the trucks. The leg was amputated on Wednesday, and yesterday gangrene set in and to-day death ensued. Henry was a young man from Kentucky, and had come to Puget Sound for the purpose of establishing himself in business at Tacoma. He was on a visit to a friend here when the accident occurred. The body has been embalmed and awaits the wishes of Eastern relatives.

THE NAVAL COMMISSION

The steamer Manzanita, with the naval commission on board, arrived to-day from Hood's canal. The commission left here eleven days since, and has been visiting various ports of the Sound. It is expected that the work of investigation will be finished in about five days more.

John McElroy, a common drunkard, was arrested to-day for insanity, but his examination was continued till Monday.

Another Elevator To Be Built—Arrest of a Man Who Stole an Anchor

TACOMA, W T March 8.—The Northern Pacific Elevator Company has decided to erect another 1,000,000 bushel elevator here, in addition to the one the foundations of which are now being laid. The contract has been let to J T Moulton & Co, of Chicago, and work will begin at once.

Frank Clark was arrested this evening in the first ward, charged with stealing an anchor from the tug Tacoma. The anchor was found under Clark's bed by the constable when searching, and was covered by a pile of lumber. Clark is one of the water rats living at Old Town, and inhabits, with others, a cabin built on an old scow. A quantity of other stolen property was found there, owners for which have been found.

GENEROUS LEGISLATORS.

Substantial Testimonials Presented to the Presiding Officers

CARSON, Nev, March 8.—The session of the legislature closed last evening. President of the Senate Evan Williams was presented with a diamond locket, Speaker Coffin with a gold-headed cane, and H H Beck, speaker pro tem, with a gold watch. Williams gave the members of the senate a banquet at midnight after the adjournment.

The last sensation of the session was the governor's message scoring the house for postponing Wall's revenue bill. The bill had passed the senate, but required five hours to be read, and as the session was drawing to a close the house decided to shelve it.

Thompson, of Reno, denounced the action of the governor in a speech, and the motion not to spread it on the record was passed by a vote of 22 to 13.

CHOLERA IN PIONEER DAYS

A Scare in San Francisco Over the Exhumation of One of the Victims

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—The development of certain facts in connection with the discovery of Thomas Ludlow's remains the other day while workmen were excavating on the East McAllister street wing at the new city hall has caused considerable excitement. It appears upon investigation of the death list published in the Alta of November 6, 1850, that deceased came to his death by cholera, which was raging in San Francisco at that time.

The coffin containing Ludlow's remains was found intact, a noteworthy circumstance in view of the fact that of all the bodies thus far exhumed the coffins have been almost wholly decayed. The spot was marked by a small marble tomb.

The circumstance that has caused excitement is the illness of Albert Perry, a contractor, and others assisting him, who opened the coffin, and the fact that germs of cholera survive for a long time, especially when so fully protected as they were in Ludlow's coffin. Perry tells the following story:

"I was superintending the work on Tuesday afternoon, when one of the men unearthed a coffin and my attention was immediately called to the fact. I opened the top of the coffin myself, and in so doing a hissing noise, as of escaping gas, came from the inside, and was followed by a terrible stench, which drove us from the spot. At the time of the discovery of the coffin over 250 people were standing on the surrounding sidewalks, awaiting the unearthing of bodies, and they immediately flocked about the spot to see me open the coffin. They were like myself affected by the stench and were not long in getting out of its reach. Many of them became sick at their stomachs and several vomited on the spot. As to myself, I felt the effects of it within an hour and became very weak, being compelled to use stimulants to brace myself up. On the following morning I felt very sick and was attacked at an early hour by vomiting spells."

When informed that his symptoms were similar to those preceding Asiatic cholera, Perry showed signs of alarm.

Health Officer Barger is of the opinion that the cholera germ is like the smallpox germ, and will live for an indefinite length of time, if confined or enclosed and not subjected to other influences. The fact that Ludlow's coffin was so closely sealed makes it very possible that the germs were as healthy and vigorous when the tomb was found as on the day they were interred.

The doctor thinks that the temperature would prevent epidemic. As to Perry's sickness, that may have been caused, the doctor thinks, by the foul gases that escaped when the coffin was opened.

The developments of this case are all the gossip at the new city hall, and every old pioneer of the 50s is telling stories of the horrible scenes at that time.

THE RUSH TO THE GOLD FIELDS

The Floating Population of Southern California on the Way to Ensenada

LOS ANGELES, March 8.—The excitement is on the increase here about the reported rich gold finds in Lower California, and many are hurrying to the scene. Five hundred tickets were sold this afternoon for the Santa Fe train going south.

THE RUSH UNPRECEDENTED

LOS ANGELES, March 8.—The local excitement over the gold discoveries in Lower California continues unabated, though men claiming experience show less enthusiasm than the others. It is admitted that there is plenty of gold in that country, as placers were worked profitably a hundred years ago, but the absence of other water than the accumulation of winter rains or snow is a drawback.

At the Santa Fe depot this afternoon, when the San Diego train was about to leave, the rush for places was great and had never been equaled in this city. All of the floating population seemed to be bent on going, and the demand from San Diego on local labor channels has been so great that certain lines are exhausted, and application had to be made to San Francisco.

At noon a telegram was received here that the Ensenada steamer was already overloaded and could accommodate no passengers from this city. The little steamer Falcon, which formerly carried excursionists between San Pedro and Santa Catalina island, has been chartered to engage in the carrying trade between San Diego and Ensenada.

Rapidly Failing

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—James McCord, formerly superintendent of the Sutter Street Railroad Company, who has been confined to his bed for several weeks, suffering from cancer of the stomach, was not expected this morning to live through the day. During the past week his strength has failed to such an extent that last evening all hopes of his recovery were given up by the attending physician. This morning he continued to grow worse and his death is expected to occur before morning.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—James McCord, formerly superintendent of the Sutter Street Railroad Company, in which capacity he was tried with Robert Morrow for jury bribing, but acquitted, died to-night from the effects of cancer of the stomach.

A New Bank Building

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—The new Hibernia bank building is to be erected on the northwest corner of Jones and McAllister streets. The style of the building, which will cost not less than $300,000, is modernized Corinthian. At the corner formed by Jones and Market streets will be a large circular lobby or rotunda, surmounted by a dome. This will be the main entrance to the bank. The hight of the dome from the floor will be eighty feet, and the hight of the floor from the sidewalk will be five or six feet, with a broad flight of steps leading up. The dome of the rotunda will be supported by solid stone columns or monoliths.

A Rapid Movement in Sugar.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—There has been a rapid upward movement in sugar the past few days. Two advances of ⅛c each were made yesterday. The two local refineries are watching each other very closely, and every movement of each is quickly met by the other.

It is presumed that the changes are suggested by events on the other side of the country. There seems to be nothing in local surface conditions to justify such frequent alterations in prices. Heavy imports are likely to rule for the next three months.

A Supposed Train Robber Discharged

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—A young man named Gillies, who was brought to this city last Thursday night on suspicion of being one of the train robbers who stood up the Los Angeles express near Pixley and killed two men, has been discharged from custody. Gillies was arrested in the mountains back of San Luis Obispo, a short distance from his home, and was taken to this city by the detective. A man named Cunningham, from Tulare, who is supposed to know one of the robbers, says that Gillies is not the right man.

Bitten by an Insane Chinaman

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—William Winkle, driver of the sheriff's van used in the transportation of insane persons to and from the police stations and the new city hall, was bitten in the middle finger of the right hand by an insane Chinese a week ago while carrying the latter to the van. He paid no attention to the injury until Tuesday, when a violent inflammation set in. The hand and arm are greatly swollen, causing intense pain, and his injury is regarded as very serious.

THE PANIC IN PARIS

The Bank of France Makes a Large Advance.

CAN THE SYNDICATE SURVIVE?

A Desperate Attempt to Sustain the Price of Copper—The Feeling in New York—Action of the French Government

PARIS, March 8.—The Bank of France has advanced 100,000,000 francs to the Comptoir des Comptes to enable it to cover the amount of deposits withdrawn from the latter bank. The English copper companies have accepted the proposal made by the copper syndicate to reduce the output during 1889 10 per cent and postpone deliveries two months. The troubles of the Societe des Metaux arose from the interruption of harmony in the syndicate.

It is understood that the Bank of France advance is completely covered by the discounted bills which the Comptoir des Comptes holds.

PRESENT CONDITION OF THE COPPER SYNDICATE

PARIS, March 8.—The bourse closed better. Comptoir des Comptes shares 70 francs, Rio Tinto shares 380 francs, Societe des Metaux shares 185 francs. Failure of the syndicate is not thought likely. The Rothschilds are deeply interested, having fostered it by proxy, and would be unwilling to have any concern with which they were connected collapse.

THE PANIC PRACTICALLY AT AN END

PARIS, March 8.—A meeting of bankers presided over by Rouvier sat at the ministry of finance from 10 P M yesterday until 3 A M to-day. Several speeches were made.

Finally Rouvier, losing patience, protested against the unwillingness of the bankers to guarantee the loan, and their refusal to recognize that their own private fortunes and public prosperity were in question, and he threatened to announce to parliament that the government alone was ready to do it. The speech produced a great impression, and a syndicate, including Rothschild, Molet, Andre Girod, Heine, Hottinger, the Credit Foncier and the Banque des Comptes, was formed to guarantee the loan. The Credit Lyonnaise and the Societe Generale did not join the syndicate because they require funds themselves in view of the crisis. The panic is now practically ended, the sums withdrawn being redeposited in other banks.

CONSIDERABLE SPECULATIVE INTEREST IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, March 8.—There was much speculative interest in copper to-day. The fact that the Bank of France had come to the assistance of the Comptoir des Comptes staggered the bears, but prices were fractionally lower, April $14.60, May $13.50.

Late in the day the following cable was read from London: Operators in London predict that the end of the copper trust is near. Any scheme devised to keep it up in the eyes of the public is merely to arrange an easier liquidation. It is apparent that these securities have been forced by artificial means upon the continental markets.

In reference to the situation a prominent bear operator, who at one time had very close relations with the syndicate, prophesied the downfall of the corporation. He argued that, even if all the mines stopped producing, it would not change the result, as the present stock was far in excess of the consumption. The failure of the syndicate, he thought, would not materially affect the American market.

John Stanton, treasurer of the Central Mining Company, one of the American mines with which the syndicate had contracted, expressed his belief in the solidity of the syndicate. The Bank of France, Stanton added, would certainly not make money advances in excess of the value of the copper held as security.

THE BOSTON DIRECTORS FALL INTO LINE

BOSTON, March 8.—The directors of all the Boston copper mining companies have ratified the action of their executive officers in New York as regards the French syndicate.

BANQUET TO LORD SPENCER.

A Ringing Speech on the Irish Question—An Ovation Given Parnell

LONDON, March 8.—A banquet was given by the Eighty Club this evening in honor of Lord Spencer. Mr Lockwood presided. Lord Rosebery, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Mr Morley, Sir Charles Russell and several other gentlemen were present. Parnell received an ovation.

Lord Spencer, in replying to a toast to his health, congratulated Parnell upon the vindication of his character against the attack which in vehemence and wildness surpassed any that had ever been made against a living man. He dwelt with vividness on Irish affairs and expressed the wish that Gladstone would live to carry an improved home rule bill.

In response to loud cheers for a speech Parnell rose to his feet and was greeted with enthusiastic cheers. He referred to Lord Spencer as the herald of Gladstone's policy of conciliation and said that his opinion was worth more than the judgment of a hundred men such as Balfour.

Lord Spencer, after all his experience, had acknowledged the truth of what he himself had maintained, that the only way to govern Ireland within the constitution was to allow her to govern herself in all matters that do not interfere with the well being of the rest of the empire, with which Ireland is indissolubly linked.

Lord Rosebery, in proposing a vote of thanks, also congratulated Parnell.

THE SALMON MARKET.

A Bearish Article from the "American Grocer"—The Alaska Product.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—The American Grocer looks upon the recent report of sales of 650,000 to 675,000 cases of the next season's pack of salmon as somewhat fishy. It says that "it is the opinion of people conversant with inside trade information that the move has been to buy some Columbia river packs at high prices in order to make good sales for Alaska salmon, their interest in Alaska and other waters being very heavy. Packing salmon in Alaska is a profitable business, as indicated by the report that the Karluk Company has declared a dividend of $1.00, or about $1 per case for the quantity packed last season. Alaska salmon is held at $1.30@1.35 in San Francisco and has been offered New York jobbers at $1.32½. Some large packs have been placed entire at lower figures. A suspicious circumstance, as it is regarded here, is the fact that while these salmon are reported sold for export, they are being offered to the domestic trade.

Another significant fact mentioned by the Grocer is that their Liverpool correspondents make no reference to any such purchases for English account, but do speak of the purchase of some British Columbia pack. If any considerable proportion of futures reported sold last Monday is out of the country it will, of course, help make a good price for the remainder, and at the same time help English operators to get a good price for stock on hand and en route.

The Grocer says it does not credit the claim that Alaska salmon can be laid down in San Francisco at 70@75 cents per dozen tins."

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

Senator Higgins of Delaware left his umbrella in Indianapolis along with his views on politics, and it was returned to him in Washington by Private Secretary Halford. The record of Mr Cleveland's entire administration is challenged to produce a similar instance.

Professor Shaler of Harvard College, who has given much thought to a scheme for providing the necessities of college life at the lowest possible price, has, with some other instructors, organized the "Economic Club," which will provide board for $4 a week, and text books and [illegible] at low prices.

Judge Thurman said the other day to an interviewer: "The people have been kind in making it unnecessary for me to make the trip to Washington, as I am enjoying myself much better where I am." But even as he spoke it was noticed that there was a sad and disappointed look in his face which cast a shade of doubt upon the sincerity of the venerable judge.

Joseph M Taylor of Indianapolis has found in his lumber room a valuable painting which has been lost for forty years. It is a canvas, 12x18 feet, representing "Christ Rejected, or the Trial Before Pilate." It was painted in 1822 by William Dunlap, an American artist, and carried about for exhibition much the same as is the famous painting by Munkacsy. It is pronounced a masterpiece for its day.

Mrs Storey, widow of Wilbur F Storey of the Chicago Times, is said to have a large cedar chest filled with lace handkerchiefs, all made by French manufacturers at the special order of her husband, who disliked to have her use any other kind. Another of his whims was that she should have a quantity of these precious stones at [illegible] bought and bought until a jewel casket, made to hold just a quart, was filled.

Ex Mayor Hewitt, of New York, says that all the advice in the world will not make a young man rich. "I tell my children to tell the truth and work." Mr Hewitt has one of the most sensible house entrances in New York. In remodeling his residence he took away the flight of stairs on the outside and made his front door on a level with the street. The consequence is that the ladies of his family and their lady visitors can go in and out of the house in the pouring rain without getting their skirts draggled.

Georgia's new state house cost $18.45 less than the $1,000,000 appropriated for construction. Of it the Constitution says: "We write deliberately and advisedly when we say that the building of this capitol, from first to last, is the best public service rendered, its scope and limitations considered, to any state or to the government in our history. Georgia has for less than $1,000,000 a capitol that in beauty, richness and inspiring majesty equals the $3,000,000 capitol of Texas or the $3,000,000 capitol of Connecticut, and in convenience and utility clearly surpasses either."

Miss Sanger, President Harrison's typewriter, has aroused the enthusiasm of Washington correspondents. She cannot whistle, but she can sing with the best amateur in the land. She has plump round red cheeks, brown hair, large gray eyes and a trim little figure. She looks about 30 years old, but is probably older. She knows more about Harrison's political secrets than Halford himself, and she knows how to keep her knowledge to herself.

George Story of San Francisco is 89 years old and attracts attention on account of his remarkable growth of hair. In 1849 he left Nantucket for California, expecting to return in a year or two. Before leaving he told his friends that he would not cut his hair or shave until he returned. He kept his word, and as he has not been home since his hair now represents a growth of forty years. Notwithstanding his great age, his hair and beard are coal black.

Mrs Harrison Will Make a Quilt.

Indianapolis Journal

Considering the several phases of housekeeping as accomplishments Mrs Harrison is a very accomplished woman. There is no branch of housekeeping that she does not thoroughly understand and none that she can not do if occasion demands. The arts of cooking, pickling and preserving, as well as sewing, she comprehends. She does not intend to let the pleasure of painting be entirely neglected while living in Washington, but among her carefully packed articles are her accoutrements of art. She has already planned for the better preservation of the many badges, not only of this campaign, but those of 1840, which have been sent to General Harrison and herself, to make a quilt, not a crazy patch by any means, but a carefully arranged souvenir of their experience of 1888.

Cleveland's Superstition.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Cleveland has on many occasions since he was in office shown that he has been controlled by superstition. Only once has he stepped over the spot where Garfield fell. Never, it is said, did he leave the White house by the front door during the long intervals when the badges of official mourning were draped about the columns in the front of the executive mansion. On all of these occasions, which have been quite numerous—Sheridan, Waite, Arthur and the rest—the president always left the White house from the Potomac side, and it probably is a fact that no resident of Washington has ever seen him leave the White house on foot or walk about the city. Those who are the nearest to Cleveland say that he is superstitious, and that he has always been haunted with the dread of some new Guiteau.

CANADA AND THE UNION

Continuation of the Debate on Cartwright's Resolution

OTTAWA, Ont. March 8.—The gallery was crowded again last night to hear the renewed debate on Sir Richard Cartwright's resolution, calling upon the government to immediately take steps to ascertain upon what conditions the United States will be willing to enter into a reciprocity union with Canada.

Sir Charles Tupper, minister of marine and fisheries, defended the policy of the government as that of dignity and self respect. He declared it would be the duty of the representatives to vote the resolution down. Canada was not going to beg for the treaty.

Carlton advocated the resolution, declaring that the course of the government would drive Canada to petition for a political separation from England with a view to a union with the United States, as was done in 1849.

EARTHQUAKE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Continuation of the Great Sale of California Trotting Stock—Arrest of the Leaders of a Gang of Counterfeiters

NEW YORK, March 8.—Captain John Ericsson, the engineer [illegible] died this morning [illegible] years [illegible] only a week.

His first [illegible] John Ericsson at the age of 10 constructed [illegible] a machine that attracted great attention in Sweden at the time.

At the age of 17 John entered the Swedish army as an ensign and rapidly [illegible] promotion for ingenuity displayed in getting up plans of fortifications and maps.

During his early life he was in Europe [illegible] to America. [illegible] three years forty different mechanical contrivances, [illegible] thirds of which were patented.

In 1839 he came to America and in 1841 began to build the Princeton, the first naval vessel that ever carried her machinery under the water line out of reach of hostile vessels. This vessel dictated reconstruction to the fleets of the world.

Such a device as the turret ship was offered by Ericsson in 1858 to Napoleon III. In the fall of 1861 Ericsson proposed it to our navy department.

By extraordinary energy and executive skill the Monitor was launched with steam machinery complete 100 days from the laying of the keel plates, and arrived in Hampton Roads March 9, 1862, just in time to defeat the Confederate iron clad Merrimac. But for the Monitor the whole aspect of the war might have been changed and European interference attempted.

The variety of Captain Ericsson's work is only less remarkable than its intrinsic importance. His inventive genius has brought out new discoveries in every department of mechanics and he has received honors from every country in the world.

Severe Shocks of Earthquake in Various Parts of Pennsylvania.

LANCASTER, Pa. March 8.—Two pronounced earthquakes were felt here this evening about 6:40. Buildings swayed, and people ran out of their houses. Reports from various points in the country say that the shock was very perceptible.

CARLISLE, Pa., March 8.—An earthquake shock passed over this part of the state this evening, and was felt throughout this city. A number of buildings were shaken and the occupants frightened, but no damage has been reported.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. March 8.—At 6:40 this evening a slight earthquake shock was felt on Cemetery hill. Houses were shaken until the windows rattled for ten seconds. It was also felt at Hanover and at Hanover Md.

A noise like thunder was heard at Emery Grove Junction. It was thought that the train had left the track and had knocked down the station.

READING, Pa. March 8.—Shortly after 6:30 this evening persons residing in this section experienced a strange rocking and trembling of the earth which was believed to have been caused by an earthquake. It was felt very distinctly in South Mountain in this county and at other points in Berks, Lancaster and Lebanon counties. No damage is reported.

YORK, Pa. March 8.—A pronounced earthquake shock was felt here this evening at 6:40, which had the effect of frightening nearly everybody in [illegible]. Houses trembled for nearly a minute [illegible] furniture were moved. The citizens thought an explosion or some such accident had happened. It was a loud report with very distinct vibrations, and was the most violent shock ever felt here. Women ran shrieking from their houses with infants in their arms, and for a while in some sections of the city, excitement ran high. No damage resulted here.

HARRISBURG, Pa. March 8.—A distinct earthquake shock [illegible] this [illegible] between [illegible] o'clock in this city and vicinity.

PHILADELPHIA, March 8.—People in and about [illegible] felt a trembling and the new city hall say that a slight tremor was felt in those structures.

IN MARYLAND

BALTIMORE, March 8.—Reports from towns throughout the northern and western portions of Maryland give accounts of a severe shock of earthquake felt at about half past 7 o'clock tonight. In Carroll, Baltimore, Harford and Cecil counties the effect of the shock was quite perceptible. Windows rattled sharply, and crockery was in some places thrown from shelves. In the town of Westminster a number of women were badly frightened by the seismic wave and rushed panic stricken from their houses. The shock was felt slightly in the northern portion of this city, but no damage is known to have resulted. The wave seemed to be travelling in a southerly direction.

IN DELAWARE.

WILMINGTON, Del. March 8.—What is believed to have been an earthquake shock was noticed [illegible] this evening. Their was a perceptible [illegible] occupied by [illegible]. Telephone inquiry showed that the shock was felt in neighboring towns. The shock lasted three seconds and was from west to east.

We entirely agree with the following from the ever prized and correct Commercial:

The Express prints a telegraphic report of the impressive and feeling remarks of the Rev Dr Haines, General Harrison's pastor, at the close of his sermon yesterday, as "A Solemn Circus in Church." Dr Haines's words were solemn and spoken with apparent sincerity. The taste of such addresses in church is a question on which persons may differ, but there can be but one opinion as to the shocking bad taste of the Express despatch editor.

The editor of the Express would have spoken of "A Solemn Service in Church." But there is one greater than he even, the intelligent compositor. The Sunday night sub is a witty original genius who utterly disdains to follow copy even a little way.

ABOUT "HEALTHFUL DRESS."

A Practical Lecture on this Subject by Dr Hunt King.

The Speaker Descants on the Bondage Imposed by Society—Artistic Costumes—Dressing Children—'Dial Glass' Waists—Crippled Feet.

Dr Hunt King delivered a lecture Tuesday afternoon at the W C T U hall on the subject of Appropriate and Healthful Dress. The room was well filled by an audience composed entirely of ladies.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs Addie Dickman Miller, president of the W C T U.

Dr King began by saying it is truly gratifying and a glorious sign of the times to see so many ladies interested in the subject of dress reform, and I hope every lady present is convinced of the slavery of the present style of dress and willing to do practical work in this cause by adopting a dress which will promote health, economy, cleanliness and comfort.

As woman becomes educated there is an irresistible impulse toward equal rights before God and the law. Only ignorant listless women are content in slavery—in bondage of any kind. Nothing has so retarded the progress of woman, physically, mentally and morally, as the customs and habits of society and the love of dress. How many tiny dwarfish women one meets in our daily walks, and we may trace the cause back to their great grandmothers with overtaxed motherhood and hard labor made doubly laborious by heavy dragging skirts.

The speaker then denounced corsets and all compression of the waist and feet as deleterious to the health and a potent factor in the degeneration of the race. She stated that the higher education of woman had failed practically to free her from the thraldom of fashion as seen in the poorest hovel as well as in the most cultured home. What has been gained in physical culture has been counterbalanced by the evils of dress.

She said, it is enough to bring the blush of shame to the cheeks of intelligent woman to read the criticisms about a talented woman on the rostrum who is able to deliver a brilliant and thrilling lecture. Her dress is described as though it was of more importance than the woman herself or than anything she had to say. How decollete with jewels and flowers, how her hair was draped—but little said about her oratorical art or the importance and usefulness of her mission. This, continued the speaker, is not altogether man's depravity but woman's thoughtlessness in blindly following fashion regardless of health and comfort.

It is natural for woman to be beautiful and it is right, but nature distorted is not beautiful. How often have we been disgusted with some new extreme fashion, but we first tolerate then accept, against our better judgment, because of our weakness for fashion. The blonde and brunette alike will select the latest fashionable color regardless of the art of color blending and destroying the harmony by wearing wrong tints.

The doctor said: It is the duty of women to educate themselves in the art of dress, giving attention to the blending of colors as does the artist, to curves and lines as does the architect. The style of garment for a tall woman should not be selected by a short, stout lady. The Grecian sculptures so renowned for their perfect art was due to proportion and fitness. These were the ruling principles outside of which they found no beauty. Whoever saw a statue of perfect form with an hourglass waist? and ill proportioned feet? Small feet and hands belong only to small people. Large feet and hands denote strength of character. A foot comfortably dressed, is well dressed.

The doctor remarked that in the past few years mothers had been more humane in the manner of dressing young children than in former years. Babies' arms and shoulders, she said, are now protected with high necks and long sleeves and they live through the [illegible]. Half grown boys, she said, are not sufficiently protected, while they wear knee trousers [illegible] bare at night are the result [illegible] them partially when [illegible] they are growing pains.

Boys are protected from the weight of clothing on their hips. They are [illegible] breathe and expand and grow [illegible] after their shoulder straps [illegible] time when they should be free from strictures about the waist and weight of clothing on the hips, are put into that [illegible] ing which is as a splint upon [illegible] in which free action in respiration [illegible] and prevent [illegible] the exit [illegible] of impurities through [illegible] breathing apparatus. Corset wearing for growing girls produces diseases which may [illegible] through life, often making her incompetent for the duties of wife and mother, but [illegible] waists might be worn with comfort and [illegible].

The speaker then made some cutting remarks about the prevalency of deformed feet attributing the fault to high heeled shoes. High heeled shoes drive the foot down into the toe by pressure thus abnormally straining the joints. Narrow shoes displace the toes and the ankle, heel and arch of the foot suffer also, but that is not all; it throws other organs out of place, as the force is put upon the back in order to balance the body. Such shoes with the stockings confined either above or below the knee obstruct circulation causing cold feet the year round. No girl can walk gracefully if her feet are crippled in any way. Form and carriage are more attractive than a pretty face.

Every boy and girl at the age of 10 or 12 years should receive instruction how to walk. * * * It also belongs to hygiene, as the proper carriage of head and shoulders expands the lungs. One of the most important rules to remember is to stand erect. The false ideas of delicacy and refinement handed by poets and novelists as indicated by tiny hands and feet leads to the crippling of the feet and the undue withdrawal of the hands from honest labor, or even the fervent clasp of friendship, or sadder still the lifting of a human being from the ditch which is as important as painting the blue violet on tulips on delicate China.

The speaker said: The W C T U has advised young ladies not to marry a man that has to cut the anti whisky and anti tobacco pledge. She hoped the coming man would decide not to marry a woman who compresses her waist or cripples her feet by improper dress and shoes.

She then put in a plea for babies, who she said, are often much abused by tight bands. Pins should never be used, but strings and straps should take their place. Moreover babies should be clad in soft flannel from their shoulders to their feet, and no very long swaddlings should be put upon them.

Grace, she contended, is only another name for ease and there can be no graceful movements in tight waists and sleeves.

Grown people and children suffer alike where they undertake to thwart nature's plans or ambitions. A fat woman only makes a botch of the matter when she tries to make herself look small. She resembles a sack of flour tied in the middle, and it is truly pathetic to see such a woman come panting into the car, too tightly bandaged to sit comfortably back in the seat. * * *

Motherhood, said the speaker, is the holiest mission of woman, but not the only or special mission, and if motherhood wears a crown of thorns instead of glory, the offspring curses instead of blessing society. Woman's brain is comparatively equal to man's, but educational influences have perverted her nature and made her superficial. Vanity has marred her judgment and robbed her of individuality. She is not only a martyr to dress herself but the disabilities engendered by improper dressing are transmitted from generation to generation, standing out in physical deformity, disease, mental weakness and moral depravity. The love of dress has been the bent age and often the utter ruin of girls.

Sometimes women make great sacrifices for men and dress with a view to pleasing them, yet men, perhaps unconsciously, make light of her weakness. The love of a bonnet clings to woman as a sarcasm upon her weakness. The love of a bonnet is said to be the cause of domestic infelicities—it has even been hinted that woman's piety depends upon the love of a bonnet she is to exhibit in church. How long, the speaker asked, do you suppose men would submit to the slavery of dress as women do? If men are wearied and fettered by wearing an apron how do women bear the weight of fifteen to twenty pounds resting on their hips? In some countries women are smothered in veils. But in civilized countries, since woman has become an individual with aspirations, ambition and a love of independence, many of the most extreme and unhealthful styles have been done away, and it would be well were they buried out of sight forever.

Customs and habits long continued become physiological conditions, and if the strictest attention was paid to the hygiene of dress to-day it would require a century to eradicate the blighting effects of the past. But that is no reason we should not begin now to bring about a reform in dress.

It is the women of wealth and social position who can and should bring about this reform by example.

What a work for humanity would be accomplished if the leading women of Washington and other cities would organize for the purpose of adopting a style of dress which would secure beauty, comfort and health to the wearer. By adopting such a style of dress, women would secure happiness to themselves and happiness to posterity. They would make better wives and mothers and command the admiration of all intelligent and honorable men.

A Thoroughbred Racer.

If there is one thing more than another peculiar to the character of Cass Matlock, says the East Oregonian, it is his love for a fine horse. He has just returned from his visit to many noted California stables, and brought with him a cherished companion, the thoroughbred racer Leon. He is a dark bay, 16½ hands high, foaled in 1885, and sired by Leinster, dam Ada A. He is a full brother to the celebrated horse Patsy Duffy. Leon is a gamey colt and carrying 115 pounds, has made the mile in 1:43¼, and the quarter in 2:10. He was purchased by Mr Matlock of F P Lowell in Sacramento, Cal., and is now resting from his journey in the Matlock stables at Walla Walla. It is said that Rupetta is recovering from her lame leg, in which case the Matlock colors will seldom be found in the rear at next season's races.

HE TOOK THE WRONG MEDICINE.

Robert Stewart of Healdsburg recently had a queer experience. He writes:

"Carbuncles and boils afflicted my face and neck for weeks. Finally I procured a bottle of one of the leading sarsaparillas. To my surprise it made matters worse. This made me lose faith in sarsaparillas, but seeing a statement that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla dried up boils and face eruptions instead of forcing more out as the potash sarsaparillas do, I bought a bottle. The effect was astonishing. The carbuncles and boils began to dry up and in two weeks my face was as well and smooth as ever. My brother also took a bottle with the same benefit.

[Explanatory Note.—The mineral iodide of potash which is the basis of nearly all other sarsaparillas, attacks the blood direct, hence forces impurities through the skin, creating more boils and pimples. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla acts oppositely. POPE'S NEW MEDICAL LAW.

Nominations for Examiners Made at a Meeting Last Night.

Material for Governor Pennoyer to Select From—The Candidates Are Drs Saylor, Glisan, Raffety, Lee, Honan and Cusick.

About thirty physicians representing the different schools assembled in Dr A C Panton's office last night in obedience to the call of Dr Curtis C Strong, chairman of the legislative committee of the Oregon State Medical society, for a meeting to discuss or take action on Pope's new medical law, which Governor Pennoyer filed to become a law without his signature However, the law was not discussed, the time of the meeting being devoted to the nomination of physicians from whose numbers Governor Pennoyer may select his board of examiners Those nominated were Drs W H Saylor and Rodney Glisan, of Portland C H Raffety, of East Portland D Honan, of La Grande Dr P J Lee, of Independence, and Dr W A Cusick of Salem It is expected that Governor Pennoyer will choose one allopathic physician from Portland and vicinity, one from the state at large and one from the homeopathic school The homeopaths present made no nomination At a recent meeting they chose Dr L Henderson, of Salem, who has announced his readiness to decline in favor of any one else the society may name

The meeting was called to order by Dr C C Strong who was promptly elected chairman Dr Panton was made secretary

Dr Josephi made a few remarks explanatory of the hard road the medical bill had to travel in the legislature the bitter fight against it and its final passage

Dr Strong followed with a few words He said the new law is not exactly as drawn by the legislative committee of the Oregon State Medical society Dr Pope, the framer of the new law is a peculiar man and a hard man to deal with he went on "He was like the proverbial flea one day we had him under our thumb and the next day when we raised our thumb he was not there Some of the provisions of our bill he incorporated in his measure and others he rejected still we got a law and it is better than nothing We proposed to make the board of examiners consist of nine members, but this was not satisfactory to him, and he would not even increase the number of examiners to five I met Governor Pennoyer and asked him if he would consider any recommendations made by a meeting of physicians He [illegible] said the [illegible] we should make nominations and while he would not promise to appoint the doctors selected by us he agreed to consider their nominations favorably

Chairman Strong having announced that nominations were in order Dr Cautho[illegible] cautioned the meeting that as Governor Pennoyer's proclivities have an agricultural tendency it would be well to see that the state at large was represented

Nominations from the city and vicinity included Drs W H Saylor W F Reinhart K A Mackenzie C H Raffety and R Glisan Drs Saylor, Raffety and Glisan were chosen Drs S E Josephi, A J Giesy C C Strong Holt C Wilson and F Cauthorn declined to be candidates

Dr Rinehart said it was his understanding that Governor Pennoyer would appoint old men to places on the board

Men with gray hair or no hair at all spoke up in the chairman as Dr Rinehart felt of his shining pate and resumed his seat

Nominations from the state at large were Drs Honan, of La Grande, P J Lee of Independence J A Richardson, W A Cusick and J Reynolds, of Salem The ballot resulted Honan 1[illegible] Lee 1[illegible] Richardson 7 Cusick 11, Reynolds 10, Randall 1 Sharpless 1 Drs. Honan Lee and Cusick were declared the successful ones.

Chairman Strong made an effort to get an expression of opinion condemnatory of the sale of morphia and other poisons without a physician's prescription but the doctors fell to discussing the law bearing on the subject and took no action

IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE MATTERS

A Circular Received From Lincoln, Nebraska—Address From the Council—Meeting To Be Held

Under date of February 20 a circular was issued from Lincoln Nebraska, from the headquarters of the Irish National League of America The circular was sent to members of the various branch organizations all over the country Copies were received here a few days ago by the president of the Land League in Portland and by the state delegate The circular is addressed To the officers and members of the Irish National League of America From it the following extracts are made

The executive officers and national council of seven assembled on the 6th of the present month remaining in session to the close of the following day Those present were President John Fitzgerald, Vice President Hugh McCaffrey second Vice-President Rev P A McKenna, third Vice President Patrick Martin, Treasurer Rev Charles O'Reilly, D D John F Armstrong Augusta, Ga, John J Donovan Lowell Mass M V Gannon, Omaha, Neb proxy for Patrick Egan Matt O'Doherty Louisville Ky, proxy for J G Donnelly Wm F Smyth, St Louis Mo proxy for Dr Thos O'Reilly George Sweeney Cincinnati, O proxy for Wm J Gleason John P Sutton, secretary

Coming from sections of the country widely apart the assembled delegates were unanimous in their opinion that it was the feeling of the Irish race in America that a great national convention should be held this current year

After mature deliberation the city of Philadelphia was chosen as the most eligible place and 9th and 10th of July as the most suitable dates for the holding of the convention It is absolutely necessary that this convention should be one of the largest gatherings of our race ever witnessed in America and to make it so [illegible] the council earnestly invites all Irish American societies to participate therein The only conditions are that every such society shall be a bona fide organization and shall prove its devotion to the Irish cause by such per capitem contribution to the league treasury as is expected from the regular branches All branches of, and societies affiliated with the league that have subscribed regular fixed [illegible] current term (that is $1 for each member in good standing or have otherwise contributed through the league treasurer to the Parnell defense and coercion and anti-eviction funds sums equal to the amount of annual dues shall be entitled to representation as follows One delegate for every fifty members in good standing provided, however that in country districts where the number of fifty members cannot be easily reached any number from twenty five to fifty shall be entitled to a delegate

On such a broad basis of representation the next convention should be [illegible] in its numerical strength and should exhibit to the world an assembly second to none in its intellectual vigor its social prominence and its [illegible] devotion to a cause as sacred as any that has ever appealed to the hearts, the brains and arms of liberty loving men

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

At the meeting resolutions were adopted to the following effect

That we once again pledge to the Irish people and leaders our support in this, their hour of danger, and in this crisis of their country

That our gratitude is due to the enfranchised masses of Great Britain and to the "grand old man" who nobly leads them on

That we reassemble the exiles of Erin in national convention, at Philadelphia in July, to give additional help to the undaunted ones at home

That we request Charles Stewart Parnell to send us envoys who will aid the work of that convention

That we frame an address to the Irishmen of America and its liberty loving people asking them to add the final crown to the sacrifices made by sympathy given and support freely furnished by them in the past

That we send across the additional sum of $50 000 to day

SPIRITED ADDRESS

Another circular has also been received here being an address from the national council, and is dated Cincinnati, February 7 This address is a very spirited one and is signed by John Fitzgerald, president Lincoln, Neb Hugh McCaffrey, vice president, Philadelphia Rev P A McKenna, second vice president, Marlboro, Mass Patrick Martin third vice president, Baltimore Md Rev Charles O'Reilly, D D, treasurer Detroit, Mich, M V Gannon, Omaha Neb, John F Armstrong, Augusta Ga William F Smyth, St Louis, Mo, Matt O'Doherty, Louisville Ky George Sweeney, Cincinnati O John J Donovan, Lowell, Mass John P Sutton, secretary, Lincoln Neb

The board then adjourned to meet in special session Friday afternoon March 15 at 4 o'clock

BUT ONE ROAD COMPANY

It is stated on good authority that Mr Augustin Daly has but one traveling company playing "A Night Off," and the one appearing at the New Park next week is the only authorized company This comedy had a run of over two years in Daly's New York theater, most of the time the entire house being sold months ahead

The New Haven Courier says

A company of comedians played Augustin Daly's success "A Night Off" before an appreciative audience at Carll's opera house last evening The play is a very funny one and this company is the only one authorized to perform it As the management announced the play is worthy of public patronage Mr Gaston as Justinian Babbitt and Mrs Eberle as his spouse played their parts excellently Perhaps the most laughter was created by Mr Burbidge in the ludicrous character of Marcus Brutus Snap, the barnstormer The play was well put upon the stage and the scene representing Professor Babbitt's home was very well arranged "A Night Off" will be repeated this afternoon and evening

A Tremendous Sensation

Would have been created one hundred years ago by the sight of one of our modern express trains whizzing along at the rate of sixty miles an hour Just think how our grandfathers would have stared at such a spectacle It takes a good deal to astonish people now a days but some of the marvelous cures of consumption wrought by Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery have created well spread amazement Consumption is at last acknowledged curable The Golden Medical Discovery is the only known remedy for it If taken at the right time—which, bear in mind is not when the lungs are nearly gone—it will go right to the seat of the disease and accomplish its work as nothing else in the world can

TRANSACTED IN THE COURTS

Mrs Ella A. Wheeler's Application for Half of Her Husband's Income

Filing of New Suits—Several Indictments Returned—Affects Insanity—A Lame Defense—Charged With Robbery Etc

Mrs Ella A Wheeler yesterday filed an application in department No 2 state circuit court for a decree requiring her husband, Dr C H Wheeler to pay her $100 a month, one half of his income for her support This is the first suit instituted under what is known as the Barin law, passed at the last session of the legislature, which authorizes circuit courts to set aside part of the earnings of neglectful husbands for the support of their wives

Mrs Wheeler complains that her husband has not provided for her as he should and particularly within the last two years he has refused to provide her with the necessaries and comforts of life She avers further that he has compelled her to quit his house, and she has been required to support herself by her own labors and by the assistance of friends

IT WAS NO DEFENSE

Bong Quong and Ah Joy, two unsophisticated Chinese vegetable venders were arraigned in the police court yesterday afternoon on a charge of violating the ordinance requiring them to take out a license and display numbered tags on their baskets Ah Joy, who appeared to be the more talkative of the two, explained matters by saying that he had just recently served a sentence for the same crime and that he thought himself exempt from re-arrest for a period of three months When he was released from jail the last time some one told him he had three months of grace in which to procure his license and as only forty five days of this lease of time had expired he considered it a gross injustice for the law to be after him so soon

The court however did not take this excuse as a legitimate defense and a fine of $10 was imposed on each Judge Tanner also impressed the Chinamen that the money paid was for a violation of the law and not for a license

A "QUALITY" [illegible] WITH [illegible]

[illegible] Nellie Watson [illegible] arrested Thursday night [illegible] H F Dobson of $600 [illegible] were in the police court yesterday afternoon with the expectation of having a preliminary examination James Gleason counsel [illegible] was not ready to proceed with the case and asked that a continuance of one day be granted The court made an order to this effect and a hearing will be given the defendants this afternoon

Edith Gordon alias Bertie Anderson was also arrested by Officer Gibbon, on a charge of being implicated in the same robbery Her bonds were fixed at $[illegible] 000 and she will have an examination with the other defendants this afternoon

DRUNKS AND MINOR CASES

Judge Tanner disposed of the following minor cases in the police court yesterday afternoon William Gavan and Frank Classer [illegible] drunk, $2 each J J McNeil same $[illegible] James Gallagher, George Bennett, Charles Gallagher and Mike Kavanaugh disorderly conduct, $10 each James Fairfield and Thomas Clark, trespass by sleeping in an unoccupied building, discharged Charles McLaughlin drunk and creating a disturbance in the White Rose saloon, twenty days John Moran charged with breaking a window in the Germania saloon, owned by Francis Fender, fined $10

"JOHN" WAS WHIPPED

A Chinaman having the euphonious name of Nok Mgok swore out a complaint in Justice Faith's court yesterday afternoon for the arrest of Mary Doe (French), charging her with assault and battery

The Chinaman alleges that the woman hired him to cook for her and discharged him at the end of a day He called for his pay but instead he received a severe thrashing He now wants redress

A PRISONER AFFECTS INSANITY

Julius Jacobs, indicted on two charges of larceny in a dwelling was tried and convicted in the criminal court yesterday afternoon Jacobs has affected insanity as a means of escaping punishment and for several days refused to eat anything but the jury before which he was tried seemed to think he was sane enough to go to prison While the trial was going on he attempted to appear melancholy and cast down

CARRYING CONCEALED WEAPONS

Thomas Gaffney for whose arrest warrants were issued several days ago was taken in custody yesterday morning and will have a hearing in Justice Faith's court at 3 o'clock this afternoon on a charge of carrying concealed weapons The complaint is sworn to by Mrs B Gaffney his wife, who alleges that she is in constant fear of her life, he having made numerous threats against her life

FOUR INDICTMENTS RETURNED

The grand jury yesterday returned indictments against the following offenders

Emil Weber charged with running a faro game

Charles S Perkins for feloniously assaulting little Gertie Kepper

S A Nahon attempt to commit larceny

Geo Higgins, larceny of a box of tobacco from a warehouse

TWO NEW SUITS

In the state circuit court yesterday T P Hawley sued J W and A M Baird to recover $1 [illegible] 90 balance due on a promissory note, including attorney fees

SLEEPING APART.

Married people sustaining the monogamic relation especially make a great mistake in allowing themselves to sleep together This practice in a measure leads to uncongeniality From five to eight hours bodily contact every twenty four with one person not only causes an equalization of those magnetic elements which when diverse in quantity and quality produce physical attraction and passional love, but it promotes permanent uncongeniality by making the married pair grow alike physically The interchange of individual electricities and the absorption of each other's exhalations lead directly to temperamental maladaptation and to this cause may doubtless be ascribed one of the chief reasons why a husband and wife manifest such a tendency to grow alike after many years of matrimonial companionship There is nothing that will so derange the nervous system of a person who is eliminative in nervous force as to lie in bed all night with another person who is absorbent in nervous force The world is overrun with afflicted people from the effects of nervous exhaustion and physical decay To such Dr Darrin invites them to try his electric treatment so successfully applied to thousands of our citizens, and that they will not seek in vain he submits the following names of people cured who have languished in the throes of disease and now enjoy the blessings of health and happiness

FRAUDULENT JOURNALISM.

The Breslau telegram, printed originally in the San Francisco Examiner, announcing an attack by an American war vessel at Samoa upon a German gunboat, and the destruction of the American ship by a torpedo, is a good illustration of fraudulent journalism. It is possible, but highly improbable that the Examiner was imposed upon, just as it is possible but highly improbable that the London Times and the able leaders of the English tory party were sincerely impressed with the authenticity of the so-called Parnell letters. This so-called Breslau dispatch bears on its face the marks of an idiot's tale, full of sound and fury. No American naval officer would dare, except under direct orders from his government, to fire upon the vessel of a friendly power under the circumstances described in this bogus dispatch. An American naval officer, in the event of any improper action on the part of the German commander, could do no more than make his protest and report the facts to his government.

The powers of American naval commanders and consuls are very small, compared with those of European governments. An English consul could order an English man-of-war to open fire, if in his judgment his protection and that of his consulate demanded it, and the English naval officer could refuse to obey only at his own risk; but an American naval officer would pay no attention to the orders of an American consul. An English naval officer has large powers of discretion, compared with an American naval officer. When the Virginius was captured and the general who represented the Cuban government commenced shooting the prisoners, the captain of a British man-of-war ordered the indiscriminate massacre stopped until the American government could be heard from, and the Cuban authorities rather than be shelled by the English gun-boat complied with the order. No American naval officer would have dared to assume such a responsibility in a European port.

The powers of peace and war are not placed in the hands of American naval or army officers to be trifled with, and except the right of self-defense in event of attack the American naval officer has no authority to resent presumed violations of international comity by his guns. He has the right to protest to the offending party and report to his government, but he cannot in time of peace declare war on his own responsibility.

The case of Commodore Wilkes, an officer of distinguished record and reputation, is in point. He recklessly seized Mason and Slidell, and had it not been that Lincoln's prompt repudiation of this act was accepted in a similar spirit by the friendly influences of Prince Albert, his lawless conduct would have cost us dear. As it was, the resentment excited by the Wilkes act lost us the sympathy and friendship of the governing class of England. Prince Albert, from the first, was our friend, and the court party followed him, but the act of Wilkes and the death of Prince Albert in January, 1862, turned the English court party against us.

The fraudulent journalism that contrives such absurd sensational telegrams is not as common in this country as it used to be. In the hight of our civil war a reckless journalist, who was betting on the stock market, issued a bogus proclamation purporting to come from President Lincoln. For this fraud the offender was sent to Fort Lafayette, and was only released through the personal intercession of Henry Ward Beecher, who was then influential with Lincoln. It is a matter of sincere regret that the responsible authors of bogus dispatches of important political and financial purpose could not to-day be imprisoned as they were in war time.

Of course, all this sort of journalism is stupid and injurious in its ultimate. A newspaper without character or circulation can afford to trifle with its reputation for veracity, but no newspaper of solid quality and established reputation can afford knowingly to deceive its readers by the publication of news on its own original authority that it has every reason to believe is without foundation. "A lie stuck to" is not as good as the truth in journalism.

THE OREGON PACIFIC.

Engineer Schenck and his brethren who are employed on the Oregon Pacific, come gallantly to the defense of the managers from all charges of having given out estimates unfairly made; and no doubt with many that company will stand better for this volunteer evidence. Experienced engineers are not dependent on any one company, and at this time, when so many roads are in process of construction, can command honorable employment. It may be taken for granted that a company of such gentlemen, gathered from various sources, are too honorable to truckle to any corporation or even listen to a suggestion of unfairness; but he gives the true reason for the general disposition to distrust the O. P. corporation, when he says that in case of Hunt & Bennett, "the money did not come." Mr. Schenck probably has not been with this company long enough to know that from the first this trifling fault seems to have existed and to have become chronic. It has been a perennial fact that men have been kept waiting for their pay. Of course, there were exceptional times, but it has occurred very often. The intimation that the governor preferred to ignore the constitutional machinery, of which he was the supposed guardian, and permit a forcible second payment of the same estimate, is a reflection that is unfair. The governor abhors bloodshed, and his sympathies were with the men that Christmas day, as penniless they footed the ties to reach Corvallis. He still thinks the course pursued was far preferrable to turning that holiday time into a carnival of blood, and a vastly great proportion of good-feeling people entertain the same view. That chill December day was not the time to be left penniless. And a railroad company ought to be on its guard against making contracts with rascals, who swindle the men that work for them. Payment a second time was indeed a hardship, but it was even a greater hardship when laboring men couldn't get the money they had earned.

CENTENNIAL INAUGURATION.

Washington was inaugurated 100 years ago, and the people considered it a very solemn occasion. The war of the revolution had been ended six years before and the colonies had stumbled along waiting for some plan to be formed to fix their station as states of our great Union. Then Georgia was the southern limit and Maine was not a state. To emphasize the event it was provided that on the day when George Washington should become president the church bells over all the United States should ring out their welcome and rejoicing.

It was a somewhat difficult thing to do, though the colonies were not so extensive as states are now, but it will now be an easy thing, for in one brief hour the news can be flashed to every part of the United States. Nine o'clock in the morning was the appointed hour then, and will be again now. Then the peal of bells was heard all along the Atlantic shore and nowhere else, but now, as the finger points to the gladsome hour the peal that first swells along the Atlantic shores from Northern Maine to Southern Florida, will pass like a roar of sound towards the populous West, rousing great cities as well as thousands of rejoicing towns and widespread country. It will go surging up the mountain gulches and ravines, will circle mighty lakes, and wake the great prairies of the Mississippi valley with peal on peal of gladness and rejoicing. It will spread to the shores of the gulf, to the borders of the great lakes, to the boundary of British Canada. Rolling towards the West, it will gather volume, as the hour dawns on farthest valleys and wake to life what so lately was miscalled the Great American Desert. Summoning all its waves of sound, it will mount the defiles and fill the gorges of the great Rocky mountain range, and come down in swelling notes to wake the shores of the farthest Occident.

What an ovation this will be! What an anniversary to celebrate, and what recollections will be borne to our minds as we think of the part our fathers bore in the old rebellion, and our brothers have borne in the newer one! It was in New York that Washington commenced his career, and it was up lower Broadway that he rode, as he had so recently ridden, at the head of his victorious troops. So on the 30th of April next it will be at New York that Americans will celebrate the old-time event, and will show a New York in proportion as great and wonderful as is the continent that is now rich and productive and populous from ocean shore to ocean shore, from east to west.

REPUBLICAN ASCENDENCY.

Since the year 1857, when the agitation of the slavery question was at the hight of its bitterness, the republican party has been successful in the national election seven times. During this period it has controlled both houses of congress fourteen years; the democrats have had control six years and during twelve years one party has had control in the senate and the other in the house of representatives. With the exception of six years the United State senate has been a republican body for a generation, while the two parties have exactly divided the time in the control of the house. This balance, and counterbalance of political control, with the ever present certainty that a blunder in policy of either party will be answered by the defeat of its candidates, insures a deliberation and care in the management of public affairs that would else be impossible.

The reply of the people to the views of Grover Cleveland on the tariff question is a recent and familiar example of this. Mr. Cleveland's opinions were not the opinions of the people. They were given an opportunity to endorse or condemn these views, and as a result Mr. Cleveland has quietly vacated the White house for a man whose views are in accord with those of the masses on this point of national policy.

As legacies in the form of unfinished business the Harrison administration succeeds to many important issues, in the consideration of which democratic statesmanship was notably weak and timid. Chief among these is the Samoan difficulty, with which Bayard was totally unable to grapple, the fisheries question which the senate refused to settle according to the British idea, and the consideration of measures for the proper restriction of immigration. Republicans will have a working majority in both houses of congress, and with a cabinet that will give the interests of the United States precedence over those of other lands, and a president whose loyalty to the government has been fully proven, there is little doubt but these matters will be settled in due time on a basis that will insure honor and prosperity to American interests.

NO DISTRESS ABOUT IT.

The Tacoma News, a democratic paper says:

> The San Francisco Chronicle did some brave work for President Harrison during the campaign, and was not over particular about the kind of work it was. It naturally feels the scorpion sting of ingratitude, and is constrained to remark: "The Pacific coast has a right to a feeling not only of regret but of displeasure that so important a section of the country should be wholly ignored by President Harrison in making up his cabinet." The Chronicle, by the way, is the only republican paper on the coast that has had the courage and the manliness to freely and frankly express its disgust with the slight so deliberately put upon the people of this great section. All the others, THE OREGONIAN, the Post Intelligencer, and our own "free and independent" Ledger, ate dirt and pretended to like it. Bah!

It was said that the proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle desired a place in the cabinet. If so, the disappointment of that paper would be accounted for. To other republican journals on the Pacific side it has been a matter of no special moment or concern whether a Pacific coast man should get a cabinet appointment or not. Hence they feel no "disgust," and have no "disgust" to express. The supposition that "a slight was deliberately put upon the people of this great section," because some place-hunter from it was not taken into the cabinet, is quite absurd. The people have more important things to think about, and so have busy newspapers.

A Confederate pension bill is pending before the legislature of North Carolina, with every indication that it will become a law. It provides for a special tax for pension fees of 1 cents on the $100, and 12 cents on the poll. The beneficiaries are to be soldiers of the state wounded in Confederate service, or the widows of soldiers who have remained unmarried. The range of the pension proposed is from $25 to $100 annually. The maximum sum is to be paid to such as have received a wound that renders them incapable of performing manual labor. The plan speaks well for the generosity of those who struggled together honestly and bravely for the success of the "Lost Cause."

No wine was served at the inaugural ball. This furnishes reformers almost as much gratification as "no dancing" could have given. President Harrison caused it to be given out that this omission was due to his own special request, thus forestalling another "Lucy B. Hayes" temperance trust, with the wife of the president as its patroness. He doubtless feels that life's duties are bearing quite heavily enough upon Mrs. Harrison at present, without subjecting her to the exactions and wearisome routine attendant upon receiving letters and calls from women "with a mission," who urge her to lend her name and influence to "the good of our glorious cause."

During the year 1888 a total of 500 vessels were turned out of the great shipyards on the Clyde, the Tyne and the Wear. Nearly all of them were commercial vessels and, great as the number is, it requires the much larger part of the vessels to make good the losses from wreck and decay in the merchant marine of Great Britain.

NEW TO-DAY.

TO THE PUBLIC.

For several days past the boats of the O. R. & N. Co. have been tied up at the docks, owing to the proposed reduction of 10 per cent upon the wages of all river men who were receiving $60 per month and upwards. This, of course, entails much hardship upon producers and shippers, but we deem ourselves justified in the step we have taken. It has cost time and labor to qualify ourselves to perform work properly and we do not feel like throwing it away. The annexed rates were what we received and we ask a comparison of them with wages paid elsewhere:

	Captains.	Mates.	Pilots.	First Engineer.	Second Engineer.
O. R. & N. pass. boats	$125	$ 60	$ 75	$100	$ 60
O. R. & N. towing boats	100	60		100	60
O. R. & N. Willamette	125	60	75	90	60

The company ordered a reduction of 10 per cent on all the above rates. This was declined and the work suspended. The company now offered to restore the old rates, which was also declined and the following asked:

$135	$ 75	$100	$100	$ 75

The following wages are paid on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers; also in California:

Barge lines	$200	$100	$200	$110	$ 90
Anchor lines	150	100	125	110	90
Sacramento River	125	80	80	110	90

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

HE DENIES THE CHARGE.—Ex-Sheriff A. G Boles of Walla Walla county who arrived in this city yesterday from the Sound said there was no foundation for the charge made against him by J W McFarland, who assumed the office of sheriff Monday last mention of which was published in the dispatches appearing in yesterday's issue of THE OREGONIAN Mr Boles said, "I noticed in the morning paper that my successor has charged me with failing to turn over the books of my office In the first place there are no books of office required to be turned over to my successor, and, in the next place the sheriff holding the office preceding me never handed over to me a blank book When I left Walla Walla I had so with an insane person in charge, bound for the Steilacoom insane asylum Before leaving I called on Mr McFarland and invited him to inspect the office and jail He did, and I showed him around and explained the business what had been done and what was unfinished I left the office in charge of Deputy C. C. Gose with instructions that he should turn everything [illegible] over to my successor My only book of office has been the delinquent tax list that has been handed to me by the county commissioners and I think that when I am through with it I shall [illegible] parties from whom I received it That is all there is to the charges made

AN ITEM ABOUT FISH The United States fish commissioner returned [illegible] from Northern California [illegible] disappointment to Mr Ellis and the commissioner [illegible] as there [illegible] Owing to the out of the way nature of the hatchery on the McCloud [illegible] got there that the [illegible] was coming and as the water was very warm [illegible] and the [illegible] made great progress It was impossible [illegible] them and they were all put in the river a few days before Messrs Ellis and Reed [illegible] On returning here Mr Ellis went down the river on business and was caught out by the strike among the steamboat men He tramped to Pales landing and was [illegible] to catch a freight boat and got back to Portland [illegible] The carloads of fish for the East this morning Mr Francis [illegible] of the Washington Star [illegible] Mr Ellis hopes to come out here [illegible] Mr W [illegible] with 900 young carp which he will distribute to persons wanting them on his way home except a few which he will take [illegible] to show the fish commissioner what Oregon can [illegible] look like

PORTLAND HOSPITAL LOCATED It has been definitely settled that the Portland hospital to be built by the M E church will be located on the James Abraham tract at Sunnyside and that work is to be commenced on the building for [illegible] It is contemplated that the hospital when completed will cost $100 000 but it will not all be built this summer The tract, which contains [illegible] acres is a high sightly point, at one corner of the Sunnyside tract, which was reserved by Mr Abraham for his own use when he sold the [illegible] property This tract is now estimated to be worth $2 000 Mr Abraham agrees to sell to the hospital committee for $10,000 on condition that it shall always be used for hospital purposes provided that if in the future the tract shall be enveloped in a solid city and it should be deemed advisable to remove the hospital the ground may be sold but the proceeds must be devoted to erecting and maintaining a hospital in or near East Portland

MUST ANSWER FOR HIS CRIME—Detective Dennis Holland of Oakland California left on the 4 o'clock train yesterday afternoon having in charge Jacob Plunder the man arrested in this city by Officer Barry on a charge of embezzlement pending against him at Oakland Plunder was arrested last Monday as he was about to board the train for Tacoma The prisoner is charged with having embezzled $1800 from Frances K. De Wart, an Oakland widow whom he was engaged to marry Mrs De Wart had some property which she authorized him to sell He did so and placed the proceeds ($1800) to her credit in a bank In the early part of February, 1887 she asked Plunder to draw the money and bring it to her He drew the money [illegible] and instead of bringing it to her he decamped and she has seen nothing of her lover or money since It is stated that Plunder went to Germany where he remained for a time and had just recently returned [illegible]

THE COMPANY MEANS BUSINESS The North west Cold Storage & Ice Company lately incorporated here has not yet been organized [illegible] Mr C H Prescott of Tacoma, and other large stockholders have not been able to get [illegible] on account of [illegible] Mr [illegible] manager of the company left for San Francisco last night to secure the necessary [illegible] It is the intention of the company to convert the large warehouse at Columbia dock [illegible] a cold storage warehouse and to also [illegible] ice plant there [illegible] producing twenty tons of ice per day In order to assure the public that the company mean business and will carry out their plans it is only necessary to state that Messrs C H Lewis W H Holcomb [illegible] are large stockholders in the concern

GOOD EVIDENCE OF GROWTH No better evidence of the growth and prosperity of Portland is needed than the exhibit made by the business of the custom house The amount of duties collected at this port during the past month was $70,[illegible] In the month of February 1888 the duties collected amounted to $4 000 While in February 188[illegible] owing to the freeze up they amounted to only $[illegible] 452 The prospects are that the duties for this month will be over $100 000 [illegible] vessels discharging cargoes here now, and four more in the river and several more on the way The duties collected already this month on cigars arriving from overland amount to $[illegible] and there are as many more cigars due here in a short time

FOR COQUILLE AND YAQUINA Bids for furnishing eighty tons of steel rails spikes, fish plates and bolts for the tramway of the jetty on the north side of Yaquina bay and for the tramway from the new quarry to the jetty at the mouth of Coquille river, were opened by Captain Young, of the United States engineer corps, yesterday The bid of Kelley Maus & Co of Chicago which is as follows was accepted it being the lowest Steel rails per ton 2,000 pounds $45 60 spikes per 100 pounds $3 [illegible] spikes, reverse points, per 100 pounds, $1 [illegible] fish plates and bolts per [illegible] cents

CONTRACTS AWARDED —Messrs Holman & Fieldner not being able to obtain the necessary 70 000 bricks with which to finish the foundation of their new building on the [illegible] corner of Fourth and Washington streets, have been forced to complete it with stone they [illegible] have the foundation completed when the brick supply starts in The carpenter work on the building has been let to J M Merchant and the brick work to [illegible] & Wilson It is expected the building will be completed by the middle of July

SPRING STYLES.

MILLINERY.

New millinery is always interesting and we will try and give an outline of what you may expect to find in this line. And right here, before we overlook the point we wish to inform our lady friends that we have secured the services of a Parisian artiste, and with her assistance we expect to attain a degree of perfection in producing new and original fancies in bonnets and hats never before approached in the city of Portland. We have already achieved the reputation of having the handsomest goods and the most reasonable prices of any Millinery House in the city We are not satisfied with this, however, and we propose to improve our facilities from time to time, and push onward, until we are the highest recognized authority on the Pacific Coast on all matters pertaining to fashionable millinery Our Grand Spring Opening will take place some time this month, and will eclipse anything in this line that has ever occurred in this city Due announcement will be made of same in these columns. We will now proceed with "Spring Styles."

SHAPES.

In general shapes follow somewhat after those of the past season. There are some eccentricities, but in the main the bonnets are narrow at the sides, arched quite high over the front and have rather high crowns or they are in very small close fitting cottage shapes with a very slight arch over the face, and are exceptionally stylish and becoming The Empire bonnet is evidently destined to be one of the leading styles It is, with proper modifications, becoming to almost every lady and is in rather pleasing contrast to the various small bonnets that have prevailed for such a length of time There is something rather coquettish about one of these bonnets when shading a young and pretty face. The Russian Toque will be in great demand again this season, and will be very elaborately trimmed with flowers and feathers. Large hats, with low crowns, built up high in the back, with ribbons, flowers, or ostrich tips, are the rage. Small, close fitting bonnets, elaborately trimmed with mortures and wreaths, will be somewhat in vogue Our imported French pattern hats and bonnets just received, all show streamers, either of lace or brocaded ribbon.

BRAIDS.

The leaders will be the Neapolitan English Milan, Milanese Tuscan and fancy mixed

TRIMMINGS.

Ribbons, Laces, Flowers and Ostrich Tips will constitute the leaders for this season Our ribbons are all here, and we shall certainly be able to show such an assortment as will astound you Laces for millinery purposes will be in great demand and we shall show an infinite variety In fact, when you attend our opening you will fairly hold your breath at what your eyes will behold

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Our Mr. Wm. Prager, of New York, has wired us that he has secured the services of a Parisian Modiste,

MISS [illegible] SILVERMAN,

From one of the largest French importing houses in New York City. The lady in question will arrive this week, and will no doubt be able to please the most fastidious of our patrons.

PORTLAND, SATURDAY, MARCH 9

A GREAT GENIUS GONE.

Ericcson, the inventor of the "Monitor" ironclad that revolutionized the naval warfare of the globe, is dead at 86. The Federal congress did not authorize the construction of Ericcson's turreted ironclad until the rebel ironclad Merrimac had been six months in course of construction. The Monitor was built in 100 days, was delivered March 5, 1862, to the government and started the next day from New York for Hampton Roads under the command of Lieutenant Worden, and arrived after a perilously stormy passage at 10 P. M. March 8. That very afternoon the rebel ironclad Merrimac, armed with eight 11-inch guns and two 100-pounders, had sunk the fine frigate Cumberland, captured and burned the frigate Congress and crippled the frigate Minnesota, which in her effort to come to the relief of the Cumberland and the Congress, grounded under the range of the Merrimac's guns. The St. Lawrence, another first-class frigate, was also aground and helpless. Ericcson's Monitor was armed with but two 11-inch guns, and Worden found the naval and land forces utterly discouraged and panic-stricken at the prospect, for the Merrimac had endured without the slightest injury the broadsides of the Congress and the Cumberland and the land batteries; had destroyed the ships, killing and drowning over 400 men, and retired at dark confident of her capacity to destroy the Minnesota and St. Lawrence at her leisure the next day, and, defying the fire of Fort Monroe, she could have steamed up to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York and shelled them to destruction.

The next morning the Merrimac appeared and commenced to batter the helpless Minnesota. The Monitor was all that saved the great frigate from the fate of the Cumberland, for the Minnesota's tremendous broadside fire at close range produced no effect upon the Merrimac. The Monitor fought the Merrimac until by a fortunate shot she broke the shutter to one of the Merrimac's portholes, wounded her captain, Buchanan, who afterwards fought Farragut's whole fleet with the ironclad Tennessee at the battle of Mobile bay, in August, 1864, and started a leak that compelled her to retreat to Norfolk for repairs. The Merrimac never faced the Monitor again, and when Norfolk navy yard was captured, was blown up by the Confederates, as she drew too much water to escape up the James river to the shelter of Fort Darling.

This battle of Hampton Roads revolutionized the naval warfare of the world, and from that day to this the "wooden walls" and the "hearts of oak" belong to the poetic past of battles at sea. That this critical fight at a most critical time did not go against us was due to the great inventive genius of this illustrious Swede. If Worden was the hero of the fight, his battle was really fought and won before he left New York, in the brain of Ericcson. Had he devised a less formidable ironclad, had he been less energetic in pushing her to completion, the blockade of the Confederate ports would have been broken and our wooden ships destroyed or dispersed. Ericcson had the most extraordinary difficulty in persuading the navy department to order the construction of the Monitor. The naval constructors all laughed at him and declared that his Monitor when completed would go to the bottom in the first storm. Only at the last minute was his plan accepted, and few believed in his invention until Worden won the day. Ericcson was a pure thinker, calm, silent, austere, always at work, making money without caring whether or not he made it; a man of the mould of Agassiz, who when offered $15,000 a year as mining engineer declared he had no time to stop and make money. Ericcson was always in his workshop, always thinking and never happy save when seeking to solve the hitherto insolvable. He was a great genius, one of the few, like Watt, Arkwright, Whitney, Stephenson and Morse, whose brains have changed the face of modern civilization.

CHILDREN'S SOCIAL DISSIPATION.

The charge so frequently made against the public school system of the country that it is a cramming machine that places undue pressure upon the bodies and minds of children meets a somewhat severe answer from a teacher of that city in a Pittsburg paper. This teacher, a woman of wide experience and close observation, asserts that the charge of overwork as applied to the children of the public schools is largely unfounded. She further claims that it is the social dissipation of children—their hothouse growth in the realm of so-called pleasure—that breaks down their nervous systems, cripples their physical development and drains their sources of vitality. The ambition of many parents to make their children little ladies and gentlemen carries with it the necessity of taking them into the social whirl while they should be left to the innocent sports and encouraged in boisterous games of childhood. The very atmosphere of society carries with it exhaustion to the physical and moral fiber of the child and robs it of every promise of vigorous manhood or womanhood. Children's parties, children at the theater, children in the drawing room, children everywhere but in a game of romps in the family sitting room or stowed away snugly for the night at 8 o'clock. This, it is declared, is what is the matter with the weaklings of the public schools who, because of this terrible strain upon them from the outside, grow nervous over conjugations and feverish over simple equations that children if maintained as children would master without physical inconvenience or undue mental effort.

Whether this arraignment is strictly just or not, there is no doubt much truth in it. At all events, it may be regarded as true that when the nervous system of the child is taxed to the point of constant irritability or exhaustion the responsibility is principally with the parents, whether the condition is the result of overwork in school or of unchildly dissipation.

PROHIBITION IN ALASKA.

Despite the fact that there is a federal law which positively prohibits the importation and sale of liquors in Alaska, Judge Keatley of that territory recently sentenced several individuals at Sitka to seven month's imprisonment and to pay a fine of $1000 for selling liquor without a license. It is a peculiar state of affairs when a man may be licensed to violate a law. These licenses have been issued by Governor Swineford during his official career and purport to give the privilege to sell intoxicating liquors for "medicinal, mechanical and scientific purposes," but do not grant any privilege to import, so that in order to sell under the license a person must violate the law by importing liquor into the territory or buy it from others who have smuggled it in.

These "governor's licenses" have long been looked upon with suspicion, and many have paid for them simply because they were led to believe that if they did not the wrath of the chief executive of the territory would be visited upon them; and besides, it would be cheaper to pay for the license than it would be to employ an attorney. It would be interesting to know where Governor Swineford obtained his authority to issue such licenses, and also, when he was licensing the sale of liquor in Alaska, why he did not also license its importation.

The governor has sent his resignation to Washington and perhaps when he returns to private life he may write a book upon what he knows about prohibition in Alaska.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

"Christian science" is profitable at least to one of its advocates. Mrs. Eddy, the proprietor, so to speak, of this so-called science, charges $300 a term for instruction in the art of healing by its methods, and four terms are necessary to make a perfect healer. There is money in it if nothing else.

Before many years there will be a divorce between the valley and coast portions of Polk, Benton and probably Lane counties. There can be two new counties made south of Tillamook, extending to Coos county, that will be valuable and some time populous. Progress will be more rapid from now on than ever before, and every section will require home privileges. We now have thirty-one counties, but we will increase to forty within the next decade, or before 1900. The resources of that section are not known yet, but are rapidly becoming so, and development will soon begin.

Cutting up territory to make new counties will go on as the state becomes populous. A new county should be made of the John Day country, including all from the Deschutes to that stream for quite a distance south. A gentleman from that section tells us it is the best county for its size in Oregon and it truly is a very prolific one. [illegible] advantage is that vicinity [illegible] took more moisture than further east. It is said stock suffers in Umatilla as there is little grass, but in Sherman county Mr. [illegible] says the soil is wet down eighteen inches at this time.

There never was a time when all the towns of Oregon were so alive to the need of making known their especial advantages and the value of the country tributary to them as now. In all directions efforts are made to advertise local interests and to make the state better known abroad. That such a course must have a salutary effect there can be no doubt. The whole state seems to be alive to the need of immigration, and especially this is true of towns east of the mountains. It is no doubt true that greater inducements exist there than anywhere else, as the best of wheat land, near to transportation, can be had at $5 to $7.50 an acre, and good for all uses.

It is said that during February 3000 immigrants passed through Baker City, averaging 100 a day. That was over the Short Line, of course, and the Northern Pacific brought as many more. Then there are the Canadian Pacific, that must bring some who come to Oregon and Washington; the Southern Pacific comes loaded from the south, and there are many again who come by sea. Two thousand a week for four months will increase the population rapidly. Oregon should gain 30,000 by immigration during 1889, and that is a very reasonable estimate. By the time the census of 1890 is taken our state should have near half a million population and be entitled to three members of congress.

Kansas is alive to the value of the horse as a domestic animal and down upon the rascals who run the horse off because he is fleet footed. To speak plainly, the horse owners of that state desire the privilege of lynching any horse-thief caught in the act. This summary visiting of justice is calculated to make them go slow as a class and seek other quarters. That a legislature should be seriously requested to legalize lynching, as a proper thing to be done, is a trifle beyond even Kansas ideas of what is permissible. Too often there is only circumstantial evidence on which to convict, so a strong rope and a short shrift might interrupt taking of evidence. Hanging is not the present fashion, and some states are trying electricity. The Kansas lyncher has every advantage in climate, for we all remember the thunder storms on the Platte as terrifying early immigrations. Only tie a horse thief and expose him with a lightning rod for his conductor, and the next cloud for his executioner, and there will be no complaint of the law's delays.

The LaGrande Journal quotes THE OREGONIAN as saying that since 1852 Hon. James Hendershott has only once failed to be present at legislative sessions and adds a few words as to his value as a lobbyist. True enough, but it is doubtful if James ever struck a legislature with so little "swag" about it as the one just adjourned. The good old times called for great possibilities and no small quantity of talent was in demand. Now such high pressure work doesn't show up and legislators are generally of the prudent class who do not need such talented influences to be able to make up their minds. There was a galaxy of lobbyists who of old were sure to be on hand and whose "influence" could command ready cash, but some of them are gone where no lobby is required, others have grown gray, and Time's furrows have been plowed in their faces; only one or two remain to put in an appearance biennially, and keep their hand in humor for the old trade. Hendershott holds out in a sturdy frame and exemplifies the survival of the fittest.

No one would know from the look of the world and the sort of good weather we have that there has been a great overturn in affairs and that Ben Harrison is in the White house, monarch of all he surveys. But that is the fact. It rained on his devoted head as he bared it to take the oath of office, and the only crankiness shown by the new president was that he brought to Washington to use on that occasion the old Bible he carried through the war in his saddle bags in preference to the historical book Washington was sworn upon one century ago. Every man is a crank on something, and if Benjamin does no worse we can manage to put up with him. Just imagine how they drove to the White house for the first time after the ceremony was over and he was duly inaugurated. Just watch Mrs. H. as she peeped into closets and odd corners. How Benjamin sat down contentedly and exhausted, resting in some great easy chair, while the rest dealt in exclamation points. Well, they are there, and if the matronly graces and suave manners of the new queen of the land don't equal the girlish and gracious ways of "Cleveland's darling" they will at least seem more in place there.

The beautiful rain comes as a greatly desired blessing, for it is so needed in this valley that grass sod cannot be plowed because the ground is very dry. The ground heretofore plowed is in good condition for working and farmers have had an excellent time to put in spring grain since the middle of January. The drier parts of the upper country feel the need of rain, for their pastures furnish no grass. On the Umatilla reservation cattle have starved because the range is overstocked, and the same must be true of a great part of the Eastern country where there are no mountain ranges near by to furnish moisture. All that is needed now to put the entire Pacific Northwest in good condition is sufficient rain to insure good crops. An ordinary good year will set off our state in respect to crops and induce immigration. The home seekers coming this spring can locate to good advantage on the bunchgrass uplands of Wasco, Sherman, Gilliam and Umatilla counties, and will do so if crop prospects are good. Oregon is now greatly interested in seeing that Eastern region developed. As soon as railroads are constructed through Southeastern and Middle Oregon there will be a wide region opened by transportation for occupation and its value never has been appreciated.

The Corvallis Gazette discusses Major Hilton very fairly, describes his loud ways and positive tones and does full justice to his overdoing his subject. It says: "There is not very much refinement in his methods and his oratory is more after the bass drum music than otherwise. We are always impressed with this one fact when we listen to such speakers as Major Hilton, and that is this, that greatly exaggerated statements and startling unreasonable stories do not count for solid argument and do not convince the judgment, while they may stir the feelings and excite the emotions." It also remarks upon the fact that he is receiving $[illegible] a day for this "missionary work," a price that savors much of a barn-storming star actor. The Gazette doubts the good done by such performers, and there is no question that they come before the public with theatrical announcements and practice theatrical effects. It is not easy to put faith in such a man, especially when he antagonizes so many who merely differ as to means for a desired end. A little advice to those who manage temperance work should be heeded, and that is to put reputable and honest men in the field, and not allow such a demonstrator as this hireling, much use of. Such men draw crowds and practice ways that make the unthinking laugh, while the judicious grieve.

Ouida is a writer of very silly and sensational novels, but her views on material questions sometimes have practical value. For example, in regard to the proposition to organize women's clubs, as a set-off to the club life of men, she deprecates everything that tends to take women out of their homes as injurious to the world at large. Here is an expression worth more than all the flimsy pretenses that women should occupy a sphere so enlarged as to fill all stations. Let the women who have homes make it their life work to render their home life attractive. That will do more for the world at large, to make it better and happier, than woman's work in other directions can accomplish. Home is the one great pivot of all human institutions. Whoever makes for her own family such a home as a highly endowed woman can create, is doing the greatest and purest work of life. Home is the legitimate and normal sphere of woman's influence. Radiating from the home, her influence acts upon all who go forth from its portals, for her example, words and life ennoble others, as well as exalt hers. When woman steps out of this home sphere to take a working part in worldly affairs, she too often loses the gloss and charm of purity that are her best inheritances, and too intimate contact with the world makes her worldly, and that is destructive of her greatest charm. There are many who have no such home to owe allegiance to and are compelled to earn one, and all respect is due to second and help laudable efforts that do not unsex her.

Now is the time to buy your spring medicine. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the best.

THE OPIUM SMUGGLERS.

Unmasked in Ellensburgh by an Oregonian Correspondent.

Sour Crout and Opium—Contraband Drugs Brought Across the Line and Slipping Past Puget Sound Custom House Officials.

ELLENSBURGH, March 8.—On stepping off the train at this growing place yesterday, I determined to sift to the bottom if possible the smuggling of opium going on from this point into Tacoma, thence through Portland to San Francisco. It did not take me long to unearth some very ridiculous features of the business or to show the laxity of duty on the part of democratic United States officials here and elsewhere. It will be remembered by readers of THE OREGONIAN that seizures, the largest ever made in Tacoma of the contraband drug, were announced [illegible] two weeks ago and again on Tuesday the 5th inst., but no arrests had been made in [illegible] up to last evening. Why? There's the rub. One efficient United States deputy [illegible] at this place, it is safe to say, could [illegible] enough smuggled opium in a week to enable him to build a snug little home and put money in the bank from his share of the money.

Who is this man [illegible] that shipped two whisky barrels marked sour crout from this station on the [illegible] of February to [illegible] Tacoma and Portland [illegible] I asked of a railroad man who ought to know all about it.

"It was a stranger," was the reply.

"Where did the barrels come from, and did he bring them to the station?"

"No, they came here through Tacoma from the summer Walla Walla, billed to [illegible] and then he shipped them to San Francisco from here, both all rail route."

Then they slipped through the fingers of the Puget Sound custom house officers on the way [illegible] and were crammed full of opium, about 400 pounds, worth at $40 a pound, $16,000.

Precisely, was the sententious reply. But on their way [illegible] Tacoma customs house officer at Tacoma smelt a rat, and on opening them discovered the opium.

"Did it strike you that sour crout was a very peculiar article to send to San Francisco, where cabbage is as cheap as dirt, and almost as plentiful?" I asked.

He smiled and said he did not think of that phase of it, nor did he notice for a moment that it was also peculiar to send sour crout to Ellensburg from any other point, because in the Kittitas valley, all around the town, are grown cabbages as big as California cabbages, and anybody could make a couple of barrels of crout for less than the freight would cost on the shipment. "So much for J. Light, who as consignor and consignee at this station, was a stranger and has not been seen since the 22d inst."

On Monday afternoon last two more barrels marked sour crout and one box purporting to contain 42 rolls of butter and a box about four feet long and two and a half feet square, said to contain canned sardines, were billed and shipped to Tacoma from this point to Charles Mueller, or J. Mueller. Mueller took the west bound passenger train at midnight, having a ticket for San Francisco.

"What became of the goods?" I asked.

"They were captured in Tacoma by the custom house officials Tuesday night, and the contents are worth about $10,000."

"Where is Mueller?"

"Don't know," was the answer.

"I will tell you something about Mueller," said City Marshal T. R. Wallace in his office. "He came here about two months ago from Seattle and with his wife and two children, about 13 or 14 years of age, has been peddling or hawking around canned goods, hot sausage (weiner wurst), etc. He is a German or Frenchman, speaking both languages, and is between 35 and 40 years of age. I gave him a license about two months ago for one year as a peddler or hawker, and charged him therefor $12. I was suspicious of the last batch of stuff he sent away to Tacoma, and looked it over carefully at the freight depot. I came up town and tried to get a search warrant, but the justice of the peace said he could not issue it under the United States law. Then I went to United States Commissioner Sam Davis, and he said he could issue one only to a United States officer. There are two or three United States deputies supposed to be around here, but there were none in town last Monday afternoon when these things were shipped, and I was forced to give up the search."

"Why, that fellow Mueller is a peculiar kind of a chap," said the railroad man. "When he first came here he had a very large shipment of canned goods, sausages, frozen cabbages, etc., from San Francisco, and has had several since. He peddles things around night and day cheaper than anybody else. One of the shipments of goods he came after was marked to J. Maitland, and the man in charge of the freight, Mr. Baldwin, would not let him have it until he brought an order from Maitland for it, whom he said was his stepfather."

Mueller lives in a neat looking cottage on Pearl street in Ellensburgh, and back of his cottage is a securely locked barn. Teams coming in from the Salmon river mines, it is said, stop at his house occasionally, and there are a number of them arrive every week. The mines are not far from the British border. Pack horses also come in from that region, their riders connecting with Mueller in some way, so that between getting his opium through by steamer from British Columbia to [illegible] and then wholesale by rail and by the overland trip from the Salmon river country he manages to ship away to his confederates and thus far escaped detection.

"Is anybody standing in with him here?" I asked a city official.

"Don't know," was the reply, "but things look crooked. There are a bunch of Chinamen here. All of them have plenty of opium, and they get it by the overland route. No seizures are made here. I know there is money in it, because a cowboy wanted me to stake him some time ago and said he could go up into the Salmon river mines and bring back 'stuff' enough in one trip to make us rich."

As the custom house officers at Tacoma are probably still hunting around for the smugglers of the last two big hauls of opium and none of them have been over here to look the ground over, I give them the above pointers for what they are worth.

The business men of Ellensburg are enthusiastic this afternoon, and a meeting of the board of trade is to be held this evening to hear the report of the members who arrived from Tacoma at noon. The committee will report that they have obtained the necessary help to build the line at once from Ellensburg to Port Eaton, thirty-two and a half miles, at a cost of $410,000, complete ready for rolling stock. The sum of $100,000 will be subscribed by the board of trade to-night, and the work started at once at Port Eaton. Connection is made with two steamboats, which begin trips to the Big Bend and Salmon river mining country on the first of April. A wagonroad is the present connection between Port Eaton and Ellensburg. Eastern capitalists, through Tacoma parties, furnish the bulk of the capital, and the Northern Pacific officials gave the committee assurances of satisfactory traffic arrangements. A public mass meeting of the citizens is to be held to-morrow, relative to the matter.

Ellensburgh is booming, new houses are going up on every side, the smoke of many manufacturing establishments is beginning to be seen here and there, the weather is charming and everybody is predicting a splendid future for the nearest town to the Sound country east of the divide. Why anybody wants to smuggle opium and stand a chance of breaking into the Walla Walla penitentiary when he can make plenty of money in any legitimate enterprise in this splendid town and fertile valley is a mystery.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Republican Presidents.

[illegible], March 7.

To the Editor of THE OREGONIAN:

Will you please tell me the names of all the republican presidents that have been in office since the time of Washington? A SUBSCRIBER.

[The first republican national convention was held in 1856, and the first republican president was Lincoln. Then came Andrew Johnson, Ulysses S. Grant, Rutherford B. Hayes, James A. Garfield, Chester A. Arthur and Benjamin Harrison.]

South America.

PORTLAND, Or., March 8.

To the Editor of THE OREGONIAN:

I am beset with letters for information about South America. THE OREGONIAN of January 11 published an editorial concerning Spanish American countries, which covers every possible question men can ask much more completely than I can, giving even the address of parties who have correspondents in those countries. My only advice to inquirers is that they secure a life interest in some respectable lunatic asylum to which they can return after a brief year's absence. ALFRED F. SEARS.

Rainfall and Presidents' Vetoes.

PORTLAND, March 6.

To the Editor of THE OREGONIAN:

Will you kindly inform me as to the number of inches we are behind in our rainfall. Also how many times Cleveland used the veto, and how many times it had been used previous to his term of office? NUMBERS.

[The deficiency in rainfall since January 1 is [illegible] inches. President Cleveland vetoed [illegible] bills [illegible] than all his predecessors combined from Washington down, while a large number of measures [illegible] have been objected to by a pocket veto.]

It Is Timber Land.

CASCADE LOCKS, March 7.

To the Editor of THE OREGONIAN:

In your issue of March [illegible], under the heading "More Land Open to Settlement," I see it is stated that townships 1 north, and 1 south of range 8, east, have recently been surveyed and the plats will soon be on file in the land office at Oregon City. Now according to my understanding of the map, townships 1 north, and 1 south, of range 8 east, lie somewhere in the vicinity of the summit of the Cascade mountains and nearly midway between Mount Hood and the Columbia river. Please state if this is correct, or were the numbers given incorrect. If so, please state where the new townships are located, and oblige LAND SEEKER.

[In THE OREGONIAN of March 5, in speaking of the survey of townships 1 north and 1 south, of range No. 8 east, having been completed, it was stated that the plats will be filed in the land office at Oregon City on April 16, 1889, and that thereafter, until all the land included in those surveys has been filed upon, applications will be secured at that office, and the paragraph concluded with the saying: "Here is a chance for intending settlers to get a homestead." The last statement was an error, as, it appearing from the field notes of the deputy surveyor who made the survey of sections 15 and 1 N., of R. 8 E., that the lands are valuable only for its timber, agricultural filings will not be received except under special instructions from the commissioner of the general land office. This means that as the land is timber land, the commissioner does not intend that it shall be taken up by alleged pre-emptors and homesteaders for alleged agricultural purposes, but that the government will expect to receive $2 50 per acre for it, under the timber entry law. This is exactly the reverse of the style of the late Commissioner Sparks and his agents, who seemed determined that land chiefly valuable for its timber should be filed on as agricultural land, and endeavored to brand the man who wished to take it under the timber act and pay the maximum price of $2 50 per acre for it as a thief and perjurer. Parties are already out looking upon this land, and by April 16 men will be ready to file upon nearly the whole of these two townships. They are situated at the base of Mount Hood, between it and the Columbia river.]

A LETTER FROM JUDGE DENNY.

He Says All Published Reports From Korea Are Falsehoods and Canards.

SEOUL, Korea, Jan. 5, 1889.

To the Editor of THE OREGONIAN:

[illegible] myself in your issue of November [illegible] as [illegible] only erroneous, but which [illegible] say that it was the [illegible] by me to the senator [illegible] got me into [illegible] you did Senator Mitchell injustice as well as myself.

When I entered upon the duties of adviser to the king of Korea I encountered the jealous and spiteful opposition of the Chinese [illegible] at Seoul. Neither was I long in discovering the reason for this, in the unmistakable [illegible] and high handed policy towards the king and the Korean government. A [illegible] in the interest of peace, justice and legal government, I determined to make every honorable effort to change, and after exhausting all those of a private character, without avail, I resolved, with the knowledge and approval of the king, to write a pamphlet for publication with the double purpose of presenting the legal, moral and historical status of Korea, with reference to China, and to warn innocent people of the actual danger which constantly threatened them.

The pamphlet was accordingly written, the first copy of which I sent to the viceroy himself. The second one I forwarded to Senator Mitchell, with an earnest request to make it as public as possible. It is the very same too which you say was a letter written by me to Senator Mitchell and which got me into trouble with China, a copy of which I forward to you by this mail and which I beg you to carefully examine in order to see whether or not the positions therein are well taken. Neither is your reference to the New York Herald apropos, as I had made the contents of the document public in the East two months before the arrival of the issue of that paper containing extracts from it.

In order to allay any anxiety in the minds of relatives or friends, which may have been occasioned by your facetious reference to the loss of my head, permit me to say that I have just returned from China, where I have been discussing with high Chinese officials in the most amicable way, differences which have arisen between the two governments.

The truth is, I have nothing at all to fear from that quarter, as ever since I came to Korea I have labored unceasingly to preserve those relations of amity and close friendship which have for years existed between this country and its powerful neighbor, and which for the good of Korea as well as China should continue in the future. Some of the reasons for this course are clearly indicated at page nine of the pamphlet which I send you.

In fact, to my mind I could not do this little country a greater wrong than to advise its government to break away from its ancient moorings for the purpose of establishing similar relations with some western power with whom there never has existed, and from the very nature of things never can exist, that confidence, community of interests and cordial intercourse which China and Korea have maintained towards each other in the past.

This having been the advised policy of the Korean government for the past three years, and which by this time ought to be fairly well known, I am at a loss to account for the ignorance shown and misrepresentation indulged in with reference to the treatment of Korean affairs, and which include the most glaring untruths telegraphed and written over the world by unscrupulous people.

The falsehood that Russia had established a protectorate over Korea was invented in China and telegraphed to London.

The story that I used my position here to procure from the Russian government "an important trading concession along the northern frontier of Korea" was invented in and circulated throughout the United States by one who is an entire stranger to the truth and is a wicked fabrication in the extreme, as there is not even a shadow for its foundation.

The canard that Russia [illegible] treaty with Korea was written from China to a Japanese newspaper, from which it [illegible] lightning speed around the world, and so it goes.

In fact, falsehoods of [illegible] which are going the rounds I might continue to recite until I exhausted both your time and patience.

O. N. DENNY.

Death of a Pioneer Woman.

Phoebe Whittaker Metteer died at her home in Marion county March 4. She was born on the Delaware river in Broome county, N. Y., August 29, 180[illegible]; was married October [illegible], 18[illegible], to George Metteer, who died January [illegible], 188[illegible]; came to Iowa in 18[illegible], left Iowa in 1850, arrived in California June [illegible], 18[illegible]; came to Oregon in October, 18[illegible]. Died from the effects of a rupture, which happened seven years ago, else she might have lived to be 100, at the residence of Mrs. C. P. Cannon, her daughter, Tuesday, March 5, 1889, at 2 O. A. M. Mrs. Metteer was the mother of twelve children, eight of whom are living, viz.: Mrs. C. P. Cannon, of Turner; Mrs. Henry Warren, of Wasco Hills; Mrs. Caleb Perin, George and Stephen Metteer, of Fossil, Gilliam county; Dr. W. O. SPRING [illegible]

To Cure Agonizing, Humiliating, Itching, Burning, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Skin, Scalp and Blood.

Psoriasis 8 years. Head, arms and breast a solid scab. Back covered with sores. Best doctors and medicines fail. Cured by Cuticura Remedies at a cost of $1.75.

I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES with the best results. I used two bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, three boxes of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and am cured of a terrible skin and scalp disease known as psoriasis. I had it for eight years. It would get better and worse at times. Sometimes my head would be a solid scab, and was at the time I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My arms were covered with scabs from my elbows to shoulders, my breast was almost one solid scab, and my back covered with sores varying in size from a penny to a dollar. I had doctored with all the best doctors with no relief, and used many different medicines without effect. My case was hereditary, and I began to think incurable, but it began to heal from the first application of CUTICURA. ARCHER RUSSELL, Desh[illegible], Ohio.

I am thankful to say that I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES for about eight months with great success, and consider myself entirely cured of salt rheum, from which I have suffered for six years. I tried a number of medicines and two of the best doctors in the country, but nothing did me any good until I used your CUTICURA REMEDIES. MRS. A. McCLAFLIN, Morette, Mo.

I have been troubled with skin and scalp disease for [illegible] years. My head at times was one running sore, and my body was covered with them as large as a half dollar. I tried a great many remedies without effect until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and am thankful to state that after two months of their use I am entirely cured. I feel it my duty to you and the public to state the above case. L. R. McDOWELL, Jamesburg, N. J.

Bad Sore Leg. Skin entirely gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg diminished one third in size. Condition hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one third the size of the other and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and today, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen. S. G. AHERN, Dubois, Dodge Co., Ga.

[illegible] CUTICURA REMEDIES [illegible] the value of the [illegible] taking [illegible] CUTICURA RESOLVENT and three boxes CUTICURA, and four cakes CUTICURA SOAP, and she was cured of the disease. Nobody [illegible] JAMES BUSCOE, 40 E. 72d St., New York.

Your CUTICURA REMEDIES have done great things for me. They cured a skin disease of many years standing. Have tried many other remedies [illegible] did me any good until I commenced using your CUTICURA REMEDIES. I can recommend them to all. MRS. A. W. BROWN, Sturtevant Building, Jamaica Plain, Mass.

Cuticura Remedies

Spring is the time to cleanse the skin, scalp and blood of every impurity and disease. To accomplish this great work no agency in medicine is at once so speedy, economical and never failing as the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

CUTICURA, the great skin cure, instantly allays the most agonizing itching, burning and inflammation, clears the skin and scalp of crusts and scales and restores the hair. CUTICURA SOAP, the greatest of skin beautifiers, is indispensable in treating skin diseases and baby humors. It produces the whitest, clearest skin and softest hands, free from pimples, spot or blemish. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, cleanses the blood of impurities and poisonous elements, and thus removes the cause. Hence the CUTICURA REMEDIES cure every species of torturing, humiliating, itching, burning, scaly and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, and all humors, blotches, eruptions, sores, scales and crusts, whether simple, scrofulous or contagious.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c; SOAP, 25c; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

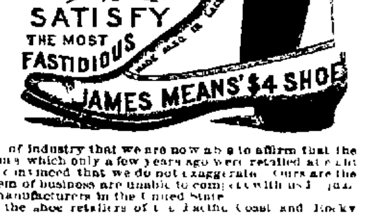
THE MARCH OF PROGRESS!

OUR LATEST IMPROVEMENTS!

"Competition is the Life of Trade," and if you have not seen our latest improved goods you cannot imagine how lively trade is, or how hard our competitors have to work to keep within sight of us. Ask your retailers for the James Means $3 Shoe, or the James Means $4 Shoe, according to your needs.

Positively none genuine unless having our name and price stamped plainly on the soles. Your retailer will supply you with shoes so stamped if you insist upon his doing so; if you do not insist some retailers will coax you into buying inferior shoes upon which they make a larger profit.

MADE ALSO IN BUTTON & CONGRESS
JAMES MEANS' $3 SHOE
UNEXCELLED IN STYLE UNEQUALLED IN DURABILITY AND PERFECTION OF FIT.
JAMES MEANS' SEAMLESS $3 SHOE



JAMES MEANS' $4 SHOE
CANNOT FAIL TO SATISFY THE MOST FASTIDIOUS
MADE ALSO IN LACE & BUTTON
JAMES MEANS' $4 SHOE

Such has been the recent progress in our branch of industry that we are now able to affirm that the James Means $4 Shoe is in every respect equal to the shoes which only a few years ago were retailed at eight or ten dollars. If you will try on a pair you will be convinced that we do not exaggerate. Ours are the original $3 and $4 Shoes, and those who imitate our system of business are unable to compete with us in quality of factory products. In our lines we are the largest manufacturers in the United States.

One of our traveling salesmen who recently visited the shoe retailers of the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain Region writes from there as follows:

"I am more than satisfied with the results of my trip. I have thus far succeeded in placing our full line in the hands of A No. 1 dealers in every point I have visited. He goes on to say: This is a splendid region for us to sell shoes in, because most of the retailers are charging their customers at retail about double the prices which the shoes have cost at wholesale. The consequence is that the people who wear shoes are paying six or seven dollars a pair for shoes which are not worth as much as our JAMES MEANS $3 and $4 SHOES. Our shoes with their very low retail prices stamped on the soles of every pair are breaking down the high prices which have hitherto ruled in the retail markets here, and when a retailer puts a full line of our goods in his stock they at once begin to go off like hot cakes, so great is the demand for them."

Now kind reader, just stop and consider what the above signifies so far as you are concerned. It assures you that if you keep on buying shoes bearing no maker's name or fixed retail price stamped on the soles, you cannot tell what you are getting, and your retailer is probably making you pay double what your shoes have cost him. Now, can you afford to do this while we are protecting you by putting our name and the fixed retail price upon the soles of our shoes before they leave our factory, so that you cannot be made to pay more for your shoes than they are worth?

Shoes from our celebrated factory are sold by wide awake retailers in all parts of the country. We will place them easily within your reach in any State or Territory if you will invest one cent in a postal card and write to us.

An Important Errand

"Now, my child, I have given you a dollar, with which to buy me a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Be sure to get Hood's. Do not take anything else. You remember it is the medicine which did mamma so much good a year ago—my favorite spring medicine."

"Is it '100 Doses One Dollar,' Mamma."

"Yes, dear. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives full value for the money, and is always reliable."

If you have decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other. Dealers who claim to have preparations "as good as Hood's Sarsaparilla," by so doing admit that Hood's is the standard, and possesses peculiar merit which they try in vain to reach. Therefore be sure to get just what you want. Insist upon having Hood's Sarsaparilla, and take no other.

Be Sure to Get Hood's

"I have used six bottles Hood's Sarsaparilla for indigestion. It has helped me a great deal. I think it the best medicine for indigestion and dyspepsia." MRS. N. A. LAUDERDALE, 103 N. Fifth street, San Jose, Cal.

"We could not be without Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the best medicine we ever kept in the house. My family are all taking it." MRS. J. M. BARBER, San Joaquin and Fremont streets, Stockton, Cal.

"I have taken one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla for indigestion and it has done me a great deal of good." THEODORE WALLACE, Petaluma, Cal.

Nearly everybody needs a good spring medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla to expel impurities which accumulate in the blood during the winter, keep up strength as warm weather comes on, create an appetite and promote healthy digestion. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla and you will be convinced of its peculiar merits. It is the ideal spring medicine—reliable, beneficial, pleasant to take.

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." EDWARD JENKINS, Mt. Savage, Md.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is proven to be so vastly superior to any other Sarsaparilla, or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter of a century ago as the steam power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"We began using Hood's Sarsaparilla in our institution some months ago, and having watched its effects, wish to say that we find it a good, reliable, and beneficial medicine for family use, and for hospitals and institutes such as ours." SISTERS OF MERCY, West Fourth street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Spring Medicine

"I take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring tonic and I recommend it to all who have that miserable tired feeling." C. PARMELEE, 349 Bridge street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"My appetite was poor, I could not sleep, had headache a great deal, pains in my back, my bowels did not move regularly. Hood's Sarsaparilla in a short time did me so much good that I feel like a new man. My pains and aches are relieved, my appetite improved. I say to others who need a good medicine, try Hood's Sarsaparilla and see." GEORGE F. JACKSON, Roxbury Station, Conn.

N. B.—Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla; do not be induced to buy any other.

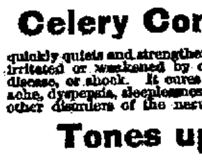
Sleepless Nights



"For nearly a month I was not able to sleep, but after using PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND for two days, insomnia fled and strength returned." E. G. SMITH, Clausen, S. C.

"I have taken only a part of a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and it has entirely relieved me of sleeplessness, from which I have suffered greatly." MRS. B. AUNCLIFF, Peoria, Ill.

"For a long time I was so nervous and worn out that I could not work. I tried many medicines, but none gave me relief until I used Paine's Celery Compound, which at once strengthened and invigorated my nerves." HARLEY SHERMAN, Burlington, Vt.

Paine's Celery Compound

quickly quiets and strengthens the nerves, when irritated or weakened by overwork, excesses, disease, or shock. It cures nervousness, headache, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, melancholia, and other disorders of the nervous system.

Tones up the Shattered Nerves

"For two years I was a sufferer from nervous debility, and I thank God, and the discoverer of the valuable remedy, that Paine's Celery Compound cured me. Let any one write to me for advice." GEORGE W. BOUTON, Stamford, Conn.

Paine's Celery Compound produces sound and refreshing sleep. A physician's prescription, it does not contain one harmful drug. Like nothing else, it is a guaranteed cure for sleeplessness, if directions are faithfully followed.

AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

Health and Happiness go hand in hand, the possession of both being necessary to the full enjoyment of life. Rheumatism and Neuralgia have baffled the best doctors to such an extent that they have been regarded incurable diseases until ATH-LO-PHO-ROS was discovered. This great remedy is recognized as the only medicine which cures both these terrible diseases, and over three thousand testimonials can be seen at their office. The worst cases of Neuralgia and Rheumatism succumb to its operation.

$1.00 Per Bottle, at all Drug Stores.

Lea & Perrins' Sauce

Lea & Perrins, the original and genuine Worcestershire Sauce, has been before the public over half a century. Like all popular favorites, it has long been the standard of comparison and the pattern for counterfeiters, who not being able to imitate its excellence, offer to the public, imitations in bottling, labels and style of putting up. They dare not counterfeit the signature of Lea & Perrins, which is on the red label of every genuine bottle, and of which this is a facsimile.

Lea & Perrins

To be sure of obtaining the genuine article, see that the above signature is on the label. [American Analyst.]

WE WILL HAVE A SMELTER.

A Chicago Company Has Been Organized to Build One at Portland.

A Location Selected—Its Capacity 150 Tons of Ore Per Day—Work To Be Commenced Soon—Machinery Ready

The time has arrived when extensive smelting works are needed in this city, and arrangements were yesterday completed for securing them, and it may be said that everything else Portland needs will be secured in due time, and without unnecessary fuss and bother, as Portland is now in a condition to have whatever is required come to it.

It has been known for several days that gentlemen from Chicago of standing and wealth, and well recommended, were in the city looking for a suitable location for smelting works. Yesterday they secured a very desirable site on the tract owned by Messrs. DeLashmutt, Knowles and Burrage, just below the Portland Flouring Mills, with deep water frontage, easy access to railroads, and, what is important for such works, plenty of dumping ground for slag and refuse.

A smelter of two stacks, with a capacity for handling 150 tons of ore per day will be erected there forthwith, at a cost of $250,000, parties here taking $50,000 stock in the concern. Several sites were offered for the works, but this was considered the most available as the greater part of the ores will probably come in over the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company's road and as their line can be run directly to the works it will not be necessary to cross the river and forward the ores over another line, as would be the case if the works were located on the west side of the river.

The gentlemen who have the matter of the erection of the smelting works in hand are members of a company organized in Chicago some time since under the title of the "Tacoma Smelter Company" to erect smelting works at Tacoma. They secured the machinery and came out to Tacoma and took the preliminary steps for erecting their works. After while they found that Tacoma was not a good place for their business as there they would have connection with only one line of railroad many of the officials of which they were told were interested in a smelting works at Helena or thereabouts. By locating their works at Tacoma they would be at the mercy of the people whose interests were opposed to their own.

They visited Seattle and Spokane Falls, seeking a more favorable location, but did not find it, and then came to Portland, which they at once saw was the proper place for their enterprise, as here they can have the advantage of the competition of three transcontinental lines, and will be able to obtain ores from all quarters, with superior advantages in the way of shipping. It is not necessary to say that the name of the company will be changed at once.

The machinery for the works is all ready to start and will be here about the first of next month, and the work of constructing the works will be pushed vigorously. There will be no trouble about a supply of ore, as Messrs. DeLashmutt, McAulay, Knowles and Oatman have offered to contract to supply the works with 400 tons of ore per day from mines owned by them.

The prospects are that when the works as at present contemplated are completed, steps will at once be taken to increase the number of stacks, and it is not improbable that within the year the capacity of the works will be trebled.

REDUCTION ORDER REVOKED.

But the Strikers Refuse to Go to Work, Still Demanding the Advance in Wages

The officials of the O. R. & N. Co. here yesterday received a dispatch rescinding the order cutting down the wages of the employes of the river division of the company 10 per cent.

The Masters and Pilots' Association were at once informed of this, and told that the employes of the company could return to work at the old wages. They at once held a meeting to consider the proposition, and it was decided that the offer would not be accepted, and the officials of the company were informed that the men would not return to work unless their demands for an increase on the old wages were acceded to.

Assistant Manager Cookingham endeavored to induce the men to return to work, temporarily at least, promising them that he would use his best endeavors to secure them the advance of wages they desired, and offering to allow them to fix a reasonable time within which, if he did not succeed in this they could quit work. He explained to them how impracticable it was for him to fully explain the situation by telegraph and the necessity for sufficient time to lay the matter before his superiors in a proper shape.

This very reasonable request was rejected. The association since the strike has taken in every man they could induce to join who was qualified to act as captain, mate, pilot or engineer, and there are now a great many more men in the association than there is employment for.

Many of the old employes of the company would be willing to go back to work at the old wages, but those who have backed them up in the strike, and for whom there are no situations are not willing that the old employes should resume their work and reap all the benefits of the strike and they be left out in the cold with no hope of employment, and so they vote down all measures tending to the resumption of work.

While the public was strongly disposed to sustain the men in opposing the reduction of their wages, now that the company has withdrawn the proposition the community feels that business should no longer be obstructed. Port Captain Frank and Engineer Reuben Smith have been ordered to take out a boat, and will proceed to do so this morning, considering that every reasonable means have been used to induce the men to go to work, and that it is their duty to do all they can to put an end to obstruction to travel and traffic.

Some of the company's boats were tied up with their cargoes still on board. These Captain Troup will move to their destination and have their cargoes discharged and will attend to moving any barges or ships which require it. Every effort will be used to procure men to take the places of the strikers. This they think cannot be done, as they have about all who are competent now in the association.

The Telephone will make round trips daily and Mr Kamm will run his boats and things will "come out" somehow before long.

FIGHTING IRELAND'S CAUSE

Meeting of the Portland Branch of the Irish National League Last Night

The Portland branch of the Irish National League of America held an enthusiastic meeting in St. Mary's hall on Third and Stark streets last night. The meeting was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock by the president of the club, Mr Thomas Kearney.

After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting the secretary read two circulars or calls, issued from the headquarters of the league. These were received with hearty applause by the members of the organization.

Some discussion ensued as to the best day for holding the regular monthly meetings of the league, it being finally decided that hereafter the meetings be held on the second Friday of each month.

On motion of Father Gibney, the second Friday following Easter day was decided upon for giving an entertainment and sociable.

Some of the members thought it would be a good idea to turn out in a body at the dedication of St Patrick's church on the 17th of this month. The chairman, however, knowing that most of the members were also connected with other organizations, vetoed the motion to turn out in a body by asking the conundrum, "How can you make a motion to turn out when you don't turn out" It was then decided to attend the dedication in any way that the members might choose.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to brief speeches by different members of the league. N G Griffin said that he was glad to see the friendship shown by the press in the cause of downtrodden Ireland. It was a particular pleasure to see the generous sympathy of the American people. He closed his remarks by paying a glowing tribute to Gladstone and Parnell.

Father Gibney stated that the home rule party is in better standing before the world to-day than ever before. Her leaders, Parnell and Gladstone are exulting, and both the Times and Pigott are dead.

Mr Foley spoke of Ireland's inalienable rights. He said that there were none other than legitimate means used in gaining her rights and nothing but constitutional methods would be resorted to in the future.

Captain Maloney, Mr Sheehey, Mr O'Leary and others followed with brief spirited addresses and the meeting adjourned, to meet next time in their new hall on the floor above. Over $5 in dues was collected.

FREE ADVERTISEMENT FOR OREGON

The Good Results That Will Follow the Establishment of a State Weather Bureau

A reporter called on Mr B S Pague yesterday afternoon to see what measure of success that gentleman had met with in his appeal for weekly weather and crop bulletins from which a report is compiled and given to the associated press who in turn telegraph it to all of the metropolitan journals throughout the United States.

Mr. Pague said that the reports thus far received from various parts of the state show that during the last few days the temperature has been above the average, the rainfall below the average and that the effects of this weather on the crops has been very favorable. The buds on fruit and other trees have begun to swell indicating the early approach of spring. Of course the farmers can get along without any excessive rainfall, but the usual spring showers would be beneficial, especially in Southern and Eastern Oregon. The text of the letter sent to the contributors of the weekly bulletin has already been published in THE OREGONIAN. Continuing on the subject, Mr. Pague said:

"The department at Washington during the growing season issues weekly weather and crop bulletins. These bulletins give the prevailing weather for the preceding week through the country, and the effect the weather has produced on the crops. By Oregon contributing to this bulletin her name and the condition of her crops is read—in many states with not one half the productiveness. It is the best advertisement the state could have. Portland being the principal office of the Oregon state weather bureau, it devolves upon me the work of collecting the reports from Oregon. Any weekly reports arriving here later than Friday night of each week will be of no use to me, as I have to compile the various reports and send them off Saturday afternoon to Washington, from which city, after being published, are given to the associated press for distribution. The publicity of Oregon's weather and crop conditions is but one of the many advantages of a state weather bureau."

TWO FORGERS IN THE TOILS.

George Wakeford and H. A. Thompson Arrested for Uttering Forged Checks on the First National and Ainsworth National Banks

The temptation to make money by dishonest means has such a hold on some people that the arrest and conviction of one criminal seems to have no salutary effect on others of the same class. The favorite method is that of obtaining money by forgery.

In the police court yesterday afternoon sat Howard Knott, alias H A Thompson and George Wakeford, two of this ilk, who have not been so fortunate as to escape detection. The former is charged with passing forged checks and the latter with forgery.

Officer Barry obtained a clue to certain forgeries Wednesday afternoon, and in the evening was given a forged check that had been left in a down town saloon. Being also furnished with a meager description of the young man the officer began his search. About 11 o'clock in the evening he arrested H A Thompson a young man about 20 years of age, who also goes by the name of Howard Knott, in a saloon on First street. On being searched at the police station a check on the Ainsworth National bank for $24, made payable to H Thompson, and bearing the signature of H W Whitfield, was found on his person. The writing on this check corresponded with the one left at a saloon during the afternoon. The check left in the saloon was for $25 on the First National bank and the young man (it proved to be Thompson) had received $2 50 on it. It also was made payable to H Thompson, and bore the signature of Foster & Robertson.

Thompson at first pleaded innocence of having committed any crime, but finally admitted that he passed the $25 check at the saloon. Officer Barry having learned that Thompson had a colleague with whom he was co-operating started out again, accompanied by Officer Foss and the twain soon returned having in charge George Wakeford, the pal of Thompson.

Thompson has since made a clean breast of his connection with the forgeries. He stated that Wakeford wrote the checks and gave them to him to pass on whomsoever he could find to take them.

The prosecuting attorney not being prepared to take up the cases yesterday hearing was continued until Monday afternoon.

MAN DROWNED NEAR KALAMA.

A Waiter Named Toby on the Steamer Lurline Falls Overboard

A man named Toby, belonging to the steamer Lurline, met a watery grave a few miles beyond Kalama about 11 o'clock Thursday night. Toby was employed on the boat as a waiter. He had gone down the hold with the engineer and after remaining there perhaps half an hour the heat became too much for him, for he stepped out on the guard to cool off.

When the engineer looked for him a few minutes after, Toby was nowhere to be seen. It is thought that he got dizzy by stepping out in the cool air while being overheated and fell overboard from an attack of vertigo. The boat stopped and went back to where the man must have fallen off as soon as his absence was discovered. Search was continued for about half an hour, but without avail, for no sign of the man, either dead or alive was to be seen. The boat then continued her journey to Astoria.

Toby was an Englishman about 30 years of age and single. He was always considered a jolly good fellow, and was a favorite wherever he happened to be. He had been on the Lurline since she started making her regular trips several days ago. Before accepting that situation he was working on the Telephone and prior to that on the O. R. & N Co's boats at the Sound. He came down from there last November on the Alaskan and has since made his headquarters in this city. It is stated that Toby has an uncle in Seattle and other relatives in San Francisco. It is rather difficult to locate the spot where he fell overboard and it is doubtful whether the body can be recovered.

"A MAN OVERBOARD"

A Drunken Person Tumbles Into the River Last Night, But Is Pulled Out

About a quarter of 12 o'clock last night as the Stark street ferry was leaving the pontoon on the west side, Captain Van Auken heard a splash up the river, accompanied by a shout "Man overboard." The captain at once had the ferry return to her landing, jumped into a small boat and rapidly rowed to the place from where the sound seemed to emanate. When he reached the Cyclone landing, at the foot of Washington street, he heard several more splashes, and three or four men from the Cyclone's crew peering about the dock with a lantern. He then caught sight of a man in the water clutching the piles under the dock about four feet from the outer edge. Rowing up as close as he could he held out his oar which the man eagerly grasped. For a moment he clung to it but evidently being already weak and exhausted he soon let go and sank beneath the water. The light was then brought to bear upon the spot where the man sank while another man quickly procured a rope. When he came to the surface again the rope was thrown over him and he was hauled out on shore more dead than alive. His name could not be learned, but some one took him away and had him looked after. It is believed that he was resuscitated and is now out of all danger. As the man was drunk he probably stumbled off the dock and can consider himself fortunate in making his escape. This is the fourteenth man fished out of the river by Captain Van Auken.

EUGENE NOTES

EUGENE March 8

The total number of children of school age in the city at the recent enumeration was 766.

About forty carloads of wheat have been shipped from here within the last ten days or two weeks.

A little son of Mr L. Davis of this city was badly injured by being thrown from his pony last Sunday.

The wheat looks as fine in this county as ever seen by the oldest inhabitant at this season of the year.

A telephone exchange is to be put in by a local company. It is expected to have it in full operation in two months.

Immigrants continue to come in [illegible] in spite of the great attractions offered by any competing points on the coast.

It is hoped by our citizens that the conclusion of the suit between the O R & N and the Oregonian Railway company will result in the extension of the narrow gauge to this city the ensuing summer.

The transfer of real estate is a little more quiet for the last week, but the boom is expected to break out again later in the spring.

All friends of the State University are rejoicing over the passage of the law making the institution free and look for a marked increase in the attendance.

The Lane county bank will occupy Mr A G Hovey's elegant building this week. Eugene can now boast of one of the finest banking buildings in the state.

Judge R B Bean was elected director at the late school meeting and the board authorized to purchase suitable grounds and erect another school building next season.

A man from New York visited our city last week and decided to establish a starch factory here next year. There will be enough spuds go to waste or be fed to stock this season to keep a large factory busy.

Both the plate glasses in front of the Bank of Oregon have burst across the center. It is supposed to have been caused by the painting of a sign across each which indicates that it is not safe to put black paint across a plate glass where the sun shines.

Our new charter [illegible] from the name of the city and [illegible] extending [illegible] limits considerably makes the [illegible] all the police officers appointive by the mayor to be confirmed by the council whereat some of the popular candidates are not pleased.

The building season has opened early. In fact has scarcely been discontinued the past winter. At least fifty residences of all grades from the cheap cottage to the more elegant structure are now in process of erection. Workingmen are busy and times seem more prosperous and business more active than usual at this season.

PAUL BOYTON'S EXHIBITION

Captain Paul Boyton went to Astoria last night to look after the seals. While up at the Cascades yesterday he selected a beautiful spot on the river where he will give an exhibition on St Patrick's day if he can arrange with the O R & N Co for an excursion. He has sent for his property man and his apparatus, which weighs 4000 pounds. His assistant Mr Jones will go up and camp at the place where the exhibition is to be given and prepare everything necessary for that event.

HIS BODY EMBALMED

The body of Frank F. Davis, the brakeman who met with a sad death by falling from a moving train near Bridal Veil has been embalmed at the undertaking rooms of Holman & DeLin by order of the O R & N Co. The remains are still at the morgue but will in all probability be sent to the relatives of the deceased in New York, during the day. An order to this effect was looked for last night.

Only One.

There is but one SOZODONT. It has no counterpart. No other preparation for the teeth, either compares with or resembles it. Recommendations of anything in its place should be discredited. Demand SOZODONT. Don't be put off with substitutes.

HE COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Inquest Held on the Body of Theodore Davis Yesterday Afternoon.

In a Letter Found on His Person He Bids Good-Bye to His Friends—The Jury's Verdict—Has Any Law Been Violated?

An inquest was held on the body of Theodore Davis the man who died Thursday night from an overdose of morphine, at the morgue yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The first witness called was George M Hale who testified that he met the deceased Thursday night about 7 o'clock on Stark street. "Davis was considerably under the influence of liquor and complained of a griping pain in his stomach. He said that he wanted to get something to relieve it so we went to a drug store on Third street, between Oak and Pine where he bought a box of pills for 50 cents. He took one pill at the door. I took him to my room on Fifth street and he then took some more pills in water remarking at the time that he had taken a barrel of them he knew what he was doing. We then started for Heitkemper's saloon where he was to meet a friend. We had gone about a block when I found he could go no further. I then returned with him to my room and sent for his friend James F Caraher. When he arrived we took Davis to the Casino drug store being obliged to carry him most of the way and then sent for physicians."

He then related the circumstances of the doctor's arrival and the treatment given the deceased up to the time of his death. In conclusion he stated that he had never heard the deceased make any threats to take his own life.

JAMES F. CARAHER

Testified that he recognized the box as containing morphine pills as soon as he saw it, and not knowing the effects of the drug when taken in excessive quantities he hastened to Carrie Jones's drug store where they were bought to make inquiry and get an emetic if possible. Dr. E. A. Jones told me that he had sold Davis the pills and said that the only thing to be done was to walk him around. I then returned to the drug store and telephoned for Dr Panton. The doctor gave Davis an emetic which had no effect and then called in Dr Glass. I then remained until Davis died about twenty minutes past 10 o'clock.

Dr Jones said that the pills contained one quarter grain each of morphine. He had known cases where one grain had killed. He said he gave Davis the pills because he had Mr Hale with him. Dr Jones did not think that the deceased was under the influence of liquor.

Mr Caraher also produced the following letter taken from Davis after his death:

PREMEDITATED SUICIDE

Closing existence to my friends and good fellows. George Bodman take possession of all I have actual personal. Relatives call for it. Pay my funeral expenses out of the money H T H owes me—$80. Bury me in your own ideas of a past particular friend. Cremate me if you like for I do not expect any future consideration—no purgatory. My ideas of hell and the unknown future are alike to Robert Elsmere. George to whom I now address and a more humane (c. re.) I cannot conceive a man most conscious pure in heart should reap a great portion of the world's goods. To Jimmie the erratic and impulsive expression of all that is good or evil I would say be like my ideal whom I have so often expressed to you. Oh boy! Oh intellect. Oh Jim! I love you and you know not how I would if I could foster you as a peasant does a sickly lamb. Why George or H. T. H. might say. H T H. More from a lack of knowledge of personal value for his own business for I know of no one of his—(A portion of the farewell letter is here rather disconnected) consolation or conclusion. Good bye to all. Good bye boys. H T H this may be a good sign—D——

Dr A C Panton made a sworn statement as to the condition of Davis when he was called in for treatment and the remedies administered. He recognized the body, and gave it as his opinion that the death was suicide.

VERDICT OF THE JURY

The jury returned a verdict that the name of the deceased was Theodore Davis, a native of the United States, aged 35 years, single man and that he came to his death by taking morphine pills, with suicidal intent, on the 7th day of March 1889 in the city of Portland Oregon. And the jury recommend that the district attorney investigate and ascertain if any law has been violated in the sale of these pills containing morphine to the deceased.

SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

The letter written by the deceased before his death shows that the act was premeditated. No one however suspected him of harboring a suicidal motive and his sudden death was a great surprise. By no act or word had he ever led any one to believe that he was dissatisfied with or weary of life.

The body still lies at the morgue awaiting an order from his relatives in San Francisco as to what disposition shall be made of it.

The jury were anxious that an investigation be made by the district attorney as to whether any law had been violated in selling the morphine with which Davis took his life. Suicides by taking morphine, in their opinion, are becoming altogether too frequent and believe that it is high time some steps were taken to find out where the responsibility lies. If any law has been violated in the sale of the morphine they ask that the person making the sale be brought to justice. It is understood that the matter is being looked into.

THE ARTHUR-PARKE & LACY SUIT

Defendants to the Action File a Long Answer to the Complaint in the U. S. Court

The misunderstanding between the firm of Parke & Lacy and Mr J M Arthur manager of their house in this city, which resulted in the withdrawal of Mr Arthur from his position on the 1st of August last, attracted owing to the prominence of the firm considerable attention in commercial circles here. This was increased by the fact that Mr Arthur in November last began suit in the United States court against Parke & Lacy to recover a balance alleged to be due him from the Portland store of $11 [illegible] up to January 1 1888 and also the further sum of $1449 [illegible] him as percentage on the business done up to August 1, 1888 and as percentage from business done at the San Francisco and Australian houses a probable sum of $7000 and also demanded that the firm produce the accounts of their sales and profits in these stores from August 1887 to January 1888.

Messrs Parke & Lacy have filed their answer in the United States court in which after saving to themselves all advantage that can be taken by exception or otherwise to the many errors, uncertainties and imperfections in complainant's bill, they admit that defendants Lyman Parke and Benjamin T. Lacy are and were partners as alleged in said bill.

That complainant Arthur was employed to manage their Portland store, and transacted all the business of the firm at Portland from 1881 until July 4, 1888 during which time he had sole charge of books, accounts and correspondence of the firm at that place.

Defendants acknowledge that it was understood between them and Arthur that he was to receive a per cent. of the actually realized net profits of its places of business in Oregon, California and Australia; that the store at Portland was managed by Arthur as a separate and independent business, apart from all other stores of defendants and that he agreed he would keep and have kept correct books of account of all business at the Portland store and [illegible] of the business net profits earned at an agency established at Spokane Falls.

Defendants deny that the net profits made on business done by the Portland house were the sums alleged by Arthur in his complaint and give a statement of the business done in support of this denial and allege that the sum Arthur received from defendants up to Aug 1 was more than was alleged by him, and did not include certain sums appropriated to his own use without the knowledge or consent of defendants.

The complaint alleges further that from August 1886, to January 1888 Arthur did not keep true books or accounts, but made many incorrect entries and charges against defendants and many incorrect credits in favor of himself upon said books and accounts.

Defendants allege that Arthur lent $600 from his personal funds to the Star Shingle Mill Company and took their note payable to himself and that upon the failure of the firm he indorsed said note and pretended to transfer the same to defendants, charging the same to them and giving himself credit for the $600 to make it appear that he had paid out that amount for the use of defendants.

It is further alleged that complainant on the [illegible] day of June, 1888 drew $1000 from the funds of defendant and converted the same to his own use and as far as could be ascertained had made no charges against himself but on the contrary charged the same to the account of the Bridal Veil Lumber Company.

Defendants then deny the allegations of the complainant in regard to the amount of business done by their California and Australian houses and state that they have not refused to furnish statements of the net profits of their houses but are desirous of avoiding the expense and delay of an examination of the books of these houses which consist of over twenty large volumes and say it would be necessary to have personal attendance of the bookkeepers to explain the entries; they admit for the purposes of this suit only that the profits of these houses from August 1886 to January 1888 were $40,000 and that they are willing to submit the books kept at defendant's store to the examination of the court and that in view of the admission above made they be not required to further answer in regard to the profits of their California and Australian business.

Defendants allege that they have been put to a cost of $500 in examining the books kept by complainant, and humbly pray that complainant take nothing by this suit and that defendants be dismissed with their reasonable costs and charges, and such other relief as may be reasonable and just.

EAST PORTLAND BABY HOME

Annual Election of Officers for This Institution

A Concert To Be Given for Its Benefit—Flood of Agents on the East Side—The Ferry Problem Still Discussed

At the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. of East Portland on February 28, the following persons were elected officers of the "Baby Home" for the present year ending January 1, 1890:

President and Superintendent—Mrs F. M. Harbin.
Secretary—Mrs A. J. Wells.
Treasurer—Mrs Jane Abraham.
Advisory Committee—Mrs S. M. Kerns, Mrs M. M. Brooks, Mrs S. Simpson, Mrs Jennie Farmer, Mrs H. A. Dover, Mrs J. I. Hanna, Mrs Sarah Chamberlin.
Counselling Members—Dr Clark, Mr Beaton and Mr S. Keenan.
Committee on Incorporation—Mrs G. J. Ross, Mrs Melinda McBride, Mrs A. J. Wells.

On March 1 the following were appointed soliciting committees for East Portland:

Holladay's addition—Mrs Wells and Mrs Farmer.
East part of the city—Mrs Wells and Mrs Sunderland.
South of G street—Mrs Simpson and Mrs Chamberlin.

Mrs Harbin has entered upon her duties. Much credit is due the retiring president, Mrs Mary D. Halsey, and her associates for the hard and thankless work of the past year, which like all work of this kind has its only reward in the sweet consciousness of duty faithfully done.

Mr and Mrs Wetzell will give a grand concert on March 22 for the benefit of the Baby Home, in the M. E. church if it can be obtained.

In the future all inquiries in regard to the Baby Home should be addressed to Mrs F. H. Harbin, superintendent.

AGENTS AND AGENTS

The East Side has been blessed with agents of every description. The latest is an agent for a fire kindler. It consists of a lump of some sort of substance that resembles lead. This has a handle about eight inches long. When one wants to build a fire the lump is first thrust into the ashes and withdrawn. A match is applied and the lump quickly blazes up. It is not much of an improvement on the old method of a little coal oil. It is a great nuisance to be compelled to listen to an agent's wearysome description of such an article, and then after he has been dismissed to have a book agent drop in with a still more monotonous recital. It would be a safe estimate to say that there have been not less than twenty five agents for as many different articles in East Portland this week.

ANOTHER PUBLIC MEETING

There will be another citizens' meeting this evening in Armory hall to further consider the transportation question between the East and West sides and hear the reports of the boat and ferry committees. There will be a large meeting as this question has been the only one discussed since March 1 on this side of the Willamette. Enough signatures have been obtained to insure the financial success of the club.

"HIS VOICE IS FOR WAR"

There is one man in this city whose "voice is still for war," and Bunko Kelly is his name. He was hilarious yesterday over the news of the German war vessel Olga blowing up the American man-of-war. "I hope it is so, said the bloodthirsty Kelly. A war would be a good thing and a man would have a chance to make something. I would gather up fifty or sixty cut throats along the river and fit out a privateer. I could shanghai an English captain and navigator and go down around the East Indies and get rich in a short time picking up German ships. Oh yes it will be the finest thing ever was if a war breaks out." Mr Kelly did not think of the danger of the Olga picking him up which would be likely to happen.

THERE WILL BE NO ICE FAMINE

In speaking of the prospects of an ice famine next summer Captain John F. Lombard yesterday said:

"No, I do not think that there will be a famine this summer. The natural ice already stored amounts to 1500 tons more than last year. The supply this season will be 4500 tons natural ice. Of course the manufacturers of artificial ice will have all they can do, but Portland will not run short. Last summer was a hot one for about two months and it kept all hands busy to supply the demand. Ice will be higher this summer than it was last. Last year the ice company did not make money. Owing to the extremely mild winter it has been necessary to gather the natural ice on Lake Cocolalla some 400 odd miles from Portland, whereas last year the natural ice was obtained from Hood River only about sixty miles from here, consequently ice this summer will be dearer. You ask why artificial ice is not made in winter and stored until the following summer. Well it is simply because artificial ice won't keep. It gets honey combed and soon crumbles to pieces. It has never been explained why this is so but it is nevertheless a fact. One of the reasons why the ice supply ran short last summer was the large shipments made to the Sound towns."

Being assured of a bountiful supply of ice the public may now rest in anticipation of rich creams and ices.
